"PUNCH" says "Ought to be done?" Ought stands for nothing. The house ought to be cleaned with Sapolio. Try a cake in your next house-cleaning and be convinced.

"IGNORANCE of the law excuses no man," and ignorance is no excuse for a dirty house or greasy kitchen. Better clean them in the old way than not at all; but the modern and sensible way is to use SAPOLIO on paint, on floors, on windows, on pots and pans, and even on statuary. To be ignorant of the uses of SAPOLIO is to be behind the age.

THE WAR NOT ENDED

Honduras and Guatemala Combining Against the Republic of Salvador.

Middleton's Career in Canada—Guarding Against the Introduction of Cholera—Deaths at El Tor—Prince George of Wales—Meeting of the French Cabinet—Spain's Demands of Morocco—The Great Strike at Mons—Resignation of Ministers at Montevideo—Brief Notes From Abroad.

CITY OF GUATEMALA, Aug. 23.—Barranda, ex-Minister of Guatemala, who has lived in Mexico for some time, virtually exiled by the popular fury against him on account of his atrocities in Barrios' time, has been making all the trouble for this Government that was in his power, and watching his opportunity to get back into power. Now that the Government has its hands full with the Salvador war he has come over the line with as many malcontents as he can gather together, and is at present watching events from the estate of Cascona, near the Mexican frontier. The people of Guatemala fear and hate Barranda, and for them no greater calamity could come, they think, that the appearance of Barranda with force enough to do his will.

WHERE HONDURAS STANDS.

President Bogran of Honduras and President Barillas of this country are in constant communication, and if hostilities between Gaute mala and Salvador are resumed Bogran will certainly come to the aid of Barillas. President Barillas has caused to be published a telegram received from President Bogran. This, with the comments and reply sent by Barillas, show how intensely these two men hate Ezeta. Barillas introduced the matter by saying: "In accordance with the humane custom in vogue in all enlightened nations in the presence of international difficulties the diplomatic corps resident in Guatemala made a tentative effort to prevent further bloodshed in Central America, and spontaneously and in all good purpose made inquiry of Gen. Ezeta as to whether friendly intervention on their part would be acceptable."

President Ezeta's opinion may be learned from the following telegram sent to President Barrillas by President Bogran:

EZETA'S CIRCULAR.

I hereby forward you Ezeta's circular telegraphed to the President of Costa Rica, Nicaragua and Honduras and to his chiefs of departments. It reads as follows:

Just at the moment when I am ready to make use of the artillery, crimsoned with the precious blood of the soldiers of the heroic column of Santa Anna, who have but now freed the country from the clutches of infamous criminals, comes a telegram signed by the diplomatic corps resident in Guatemala offering its intervention that we may make peace with our enemies, This is the latest effort which the usurpers of our national sovereignty have made to prevent our glorious flag, emblem of liberty and right, from being displayed on the Government palace of Guatemala. In the present state of things arrangement of the matter is impossible. There is no middle ground of reconciliation. After having endured so long the terrible domination of the Guatemala despots it becomes necessary for our army to overturn the presidential throne of those rulers. We do not beg liberty as a favor; we win her on the field of battle with the edge of the sword and the point of the bayonet. There is no middle ground. Liberty or death! That is our watchword. To be published by ban.

CARLOS EZETA.

See how he rages! "LUIS BOGRAN."

President Barrillas offers as a comment on the above the following: "This method of replying to the telegram of the diplomatic corps is about as informal, uncourteous and low as it could be. This kind of treatment of Guatemala is infamous, and shows up the character of the war waged against us and the intentions of Ezeta and his partisans against our Republic."

In reply to President Bogran's telegram, President Barrillas sent the following reply:

BARRILLAS' REPLY.

I have just received your telegram containing Ezeta's circular to the Governments of Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica and to the commanders of departments of Salvador. The hatred against Guatamala could not be made more evident, nor can anything be clearer than that he who has rushed headlong into the path of crime, cares little for the bloodshed of sister people who should be living in peace. If my Government has fulfilled all expectations of her since the news of the heartrending events of the 22d of June by watching lest the abnormal condition of things in Salvador might induce complications and disorders here, it behooves us now more than ever to work with an energy equal to the circumstances and pay back the insult to the country that has been offered by a miserable leader of usurpers and assassins. If the honorable diplomatic corps accredited in Central America and resident in this capital has had the praiseworthy intention of offering its good offices in favor of peace, it is not because our Government has solicited that intervention, much less because we find ourselves too weak to sustain the honor and good name of Guatemala, although with pleasure we would accept peace were its conditions proper and becoming. But now that there is no possible pacific solution of the problem, and we are obliged to sustain our autonomy and honor by the clash of arms, I am ready for the worst, with all confidence in the people I represent and the cause I defend. I appreciate your feelings in view of Ezeta's circular, and I take it for granted that your attitude to-day is that which is expected of a chief magistrate of interrity over a people whose welfare, both by the principles maintained and by her community of interests, is identified with that of Guatemala, her natural ally and sister.

[Signed] T. M. BARILLAS.

Conflict Between Hayti and San Domingo.

SAN DOMINGO, Aug. 23.—Information has reached this capital that on the night of August 20 about eight hundred Haytian troops, stationed near the frontier of the Dominican Republic, invaded the territory of this country. The Dominican Government at once dispatched an armed force to drive out the intruders. The Dominican troops were successful and repulsed the enemy, killing twenty-three men and wounding a number of others. The Dominicans had but four soldiers injured. Great indignation is felt here at Hayti's action in this invasion of Dominican territory, and the Dominican cabinet has been called together by President Ulis E. Herriaraux to consider the advisability of declaring war against Hayti. President Herriaraux said to-day that the real cause of the trouble was that in 1875 and 1876 a treaty for commercial purposes was entered into between the Haytian and Dominican Governments which at the same time defined the boundaries of the two countries.

A special stipulation of this treaty was that Hayti was to make use of a portion of Dominican territory which she needed, and which Santo Domingo was to allow to be so used on condition that Hayti should pay annually to the Dominican Government, $150,000 as long as she retained possession of the loaned territory. Hayti was, moreover, to permit all imports from Santo Domingo to enter Hayti free of duty. Hayti has not paid the $150,000 for a number of years and now owes something over $2,000,000. Hayti, however, alleges that there is so much rum imported from Santo Domingo that the Haytian revenues are greatly suffering. Hayti wishes to make an end to her bargain and at the same time retain possession of the loaned land.

NOTHING KNOWN IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Senors Francisco Leonte Vasquez and Manuel De Jalvin, the Consul-General and Consul respectively of the Dominican Government in this city, state that they have received no official intimation from their Government that any outbreak or invasion had occurred on the Island. They knew that there was some sort of trouble brewing between Hayti and Santo Domingo, but they could not say to what extent it had developed. They had also heard it said that private advices had been received by persons here that there had been a disturbance between the two countries, but they had learned none of the particulars.

Gen. Middleton's Career in Canada.

OTTAWA, Aug. 23.—The publication of Gen. Sir Frederick Middleton's farewell to the people of Canada has created intense feeling in all circles. The revelations made therein go far to prove that in his defense before the Parliamentary Commission he withheld, out of regard to his friends, many facts which would certainly have caused a more lenient view of his case to be taken by the tribunal. It appears that in thus shielding his friends the General courted his own condemnation. Referring to the confiscation of Bremner's furs he says: "It seems that my impression as to the extent of my powers was wrong, and of course I regret now that I exercised as I did, but the impression must have been strengthened by a telegram from the Minister of Militia, dated June 13, 1885, in which he says: 'I should like you to bring back some souvenirs of your campaign for Sir John, Sir Hector and myself. Leave to you to select whatever you consider of interest.' This request may have been meant to refer, and from what the Minister of Militia told me the other day probably did refer to souvenirs to be purchased or received as gifts by me, but I certainly took it at the time to relate to anything captured from the rebels."

PARTISAN ATTACKS.

Referring to the report of the House Committee he says: "The House of Commons is not a court of justice, but a political assembly in which party feeling necessarily prevails. If my character were at stake I should prefer a different tribunal. It is a patent fact that the bitterest attacks on me have proceeded from that party and from most of the organs of that party which protested against Riel's execution and courted the Rielite vote." The Sir John and Sir Hector referred to in the message of the Minister of Militia are respectively Sir John A. MacDonald, the Premier, and Sir Hector L. Langevin, Minister of Public Works. The scandal of which Gen. Middleton is the central figure has claimed attention in Canada for the past year. In 1885, during the Northwest rebellion, Gen. Middleton, who had charge of the Canadian forces, urged a half-breed named Bremner to put his furs, valued at about $4,500, in his hands for safe-keeping. The half-breed did so and never saw them again. When he endeavored to learn what had become of them he was driven away and told to go about his business.

SHOWERED WITH HONORS.

Sir Frederick, flushed with success, returned to Ottawa and had honors showered upon him. He was made a Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George and received the thanks of the Dominion Parliament and a vote of $20,000. Shortly afterwards he was retired from the Imperial Army with the rank of Lieutenant-General, but retained command of the Canadian militia. His previous record was of the best. He had served in New Zealand and India and had been promoted several times for bravery in battle. He took part in the siege of Lucknow and was recommended to Lord Clyde for the Victoria Cross. In 1861 he was sent to Canada and in 1884 took command of the militia.

Stories about the thieving of the militia during the Northwest rebellion and the looting of Bremner's furs were circulated in 1886, but no attention was paid to them until this year, when the opposition, through persistent reiteration of the charges, forced the Government to institute an inquiry. Sir Frederick was tried and found guilty. He was forced to resign and pay Bremner $3,500 for the stolen furs. Now he returns to England in disgrace. The General is 60 years old, short, thick set, with a jolly red countenance, white hair and a bristling white mustache. He is very bitter against Sir Adolph Carr, Minister of Militia, and claims that he is more sinned against than sinning.

A French Canadian Bishop.

MONTREAL, Quebec, Aug. 23.—From present indications it would appear that the United States is to have a French Canadian Bishop. Mgr. Wadhams of Ogdensburg, now old and infirm, asked some months ago that a coadjutor Bishop be appointed, and His Lordship's council forwarded the names of three Irish priests. This gave offense to the French Canadian Catholics, who are in the majority. Through the intercession of the Sulpician Fathers in Rome the name of Rev. Mr. Normandeau has been submitted to the Holy Father as a priest worthy of occupying the exalted position, and private information from Rome indicates that he is likely to receive the appointment.

Wants to Know What Is Said of Him.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Mr. Paul Moshring of 90 Third avenue, whose business is to furnish clippings from the newspapers upon any subject, to those who may desire them, received a letter from the private secretary of Prince George of Wales yesterday. The letter was dated aboard the Thrush at Halifax and instructed Mr. Moshring to furnish His Highness with such clippings as had appeared in the New York newspapers concerning the Thrush or her Royal Commander.

Prince George of Wales has shown that he is not altogether unmindful of what the American people think and say of him.

Looking to an International Strike.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—At a meeting of the Lancasshire Miners' Federation to-day Mr. Wood, the President, who was in the chair, stated that two messengers, who came direct from the Emperor of Germany, had waited upon him and solicited information as to the condition of German miners. They stated that since the resignation of Prince Bismarck, the Emperor had become democratic and desired to place the labor laws of Germany on equality with those of England. The meeting unanimously recommended that the question of an eight-hour day be submitted to a vote of the British miners before an international strike is entered upon.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 23.—Gen. Von Scheilendorf, Commander of the First German Army Corps, who is attached to the suite of Emperor William, while on his way to the Peterhof to-day was thrown from his horse and severely injured. The Czar has conferred the decoration of the Order of St. Andrew upon Chancellor Von Caprivi. It is stated that the Czar and Czarina have promised Emperor William that they will visit Berlin in October.

The Czar and Emperor William have arrived at the Peternof Palace from Narva.

Guarding Against Cholera.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Aug. 23.—The Acting Deputy Minister of Agriculture speaking of the rumored danger of Asiatic cholera coming to Canada from Japan via British Columbia, said the quarantine regulations were as strict at Vancouver as at Grosse Isle, and at the latter place they were all that human ingenuity could devise. There was every danger, however, that the plague would visit this country next summer. It might come through immigrants who having the disease in its latest stage it could not be detected at Quarantine.

Russia's Frontier Guard.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 23.—The Novoe Vremya, commenting on the Berlin Post's suggestion that Russia should withdraw her troops from the German and Austrian frontier, says that Russia massed her troops along the frontier solely as a precaution, after Germany and Austria had massed their forces on their frontiers, and that therefore those two powers should initiate the evacuation.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 23.—The strikers at Mons and in the vicinity now number 12,025. The miners have appointed four delegates to confer with the Provincial Council and to urge the establishment of an industrial council and the withdrawal of the rules recently issued by the Societe de Products.

TANGIER, Aug. 23.—The Spanish Minister, who visited Fez for the purpose of laying before the Sultan of Morocco the demands of Spain for satisfaction for the firing upon a detachment of Spanish cavalry by Arabs near Melilla, has returned to Tangier. The Sultan acceded to all the demands made upon him.

Meeting of the French Cabinet.

PARIS, Aug. 23.—A meeting of the Cabinet was held at Fontainebleau to-day. The ministers discussed the measure which the American Government proposed to adopt to insure the wholesome condition of salted meats at the time of export and held a further debate on the draft of a new general tariff bill.

Crop Notes.

PESTH, Aug. 23.—The Hungarian Minister of Agriculture, from the statistics now on hand, says the harvest wheat crop of the world will be 723,600,000 hectaliters and the quantity wanted by importing countries 128,000,000. Owing to the immense stocks of stored grain the surplus is small.

Confessed a Murder.

SALT LAKE, Utah, Aug. 23.—A man giving the name of Jacob Stumpf called on Marshal Young of this city early this week and said he had a load on his conscience and wanted to confess that on January 4, 1890, in Nashville, Tenn., he was walking along the street, four blocks north of College street, and came across a man whom he struck with a heavy club, killing him instantly. He then took $20 from the victim and buried the body without even looking at the papers upon it, so he has no idea who the murdered man was. Stumpf says he boarded in Nashville with a family named Lusch. Marshal Young notified the Nashville authorities, and an officer is on the way from that city here to investigate. To-day Stumpf withdrew the confession, saying he made it only to get something to eat and a place to sleep. He is still held to await the arrival of the Nashville officer.

Fought Over a Bucket of Beer.

Louis Brewer and Thomas Wall were in the First District Police Court this morning charged with disturbing the peace. Brewer was fined $10 and costs, but was afterwards released. Wall was assessed $100 and costs, and will go to the Work-house in default of payment.

Both of the men are white constabouts on the Levee. Yesterday afternoon they were together in front of the Boston House, 419 North Levee, drinking beer. Brewer had the bucket in his hands when Wall snatched it from him. Brewer endeavored to regain possession of the vessel, when Wall drew his knife and slashed him across the abdomen and left arm. The wound inflicted was but a slight one. Officers Tobin and Kavanaugh made the arrest.

WILL THEY STRIKE?

The Eyes of the Railroad World Turned Toward Terre Haute To-Day.

The Chiefs of the Railway Brotherhoods in Session Behind Bolted Doors.

The Questions Involved in the New York Central Strike Being Discussed and the Attitude of the Employes' Federation Determined—A Conclusion May Be Reached This Evening—The Men Who Compose the Conference—Speculation as to the Outcome—The Head of the Switchmen's Organization Said to Oppose a Strike, While the Other Chiefs Favor a Suspension of Work—Another Tie-Up on the Delaware & Hudson—Mr. Webb States His Reasons for Discharging Knights of Labor—Powderly and Chief Arthur—To-Day's Events—General Labor News.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 23.—Twelve substantial looking, well-dressed men mounted the marble steps to the first floor of the Terre Haute House at 9:30 this morning and passed in single file into the spacious club-room that is designated as No. 63. When the last man had entered the eleven ranged themselves around a big table at the farther end of the apartment, while the twelfth locked the door from the inside. Then the sharp rap of a gavel upon the oaken table was heard, and the listeners in the corridor knew that the special session of the Supreme Council of the Federation of Railroad Employes, and who will decide whether or not that organization shall extend its support to the Knights of Labor by declaring a general strike upon the New York Central Road had been formally called to order. The participants in the gathering are:

Grand Master Sargent, who presides. Grand Secretary Debs, who officiates as Secretary, and J. J. Hannahan of Chicago, all of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen; Grand Chief Howard, J. J. Nelson of St. Louis and G. W. Lovejoy of Terre Haute, representing the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors; Grand Master Sweeny, Vice-Grand Master Dowley and Grand Organizer Hall, all of Chicago, representing the Switchmen's Mutual Aid Association, and Grand Master Morrissey, S. G. Wilkinson and Grand Secretary Sheehan, all of Galesburg, and representing the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

THE SWITCHMEN'S CHIEF.

Sweeny was the last of the council to arrive and it was nearly 2 o'clock this morning when he placed his autograph on the register of the hotel. The chief of the switchmen, who has attracted no little attention as a result of his utterances in opposition to a strike, did not appear to be in the most amiable of moods and quickly sought his room. He was one of the first, however, to appear in the dining-room this morning and perused with evident relish a New York press dispatch in a morning paper which represented that Sweeny's attitude had been pretty severely criticised by the heads of the Knights of Labor. It was noticeable that the other delegates, as they meandered by ones and twos into the dining-room, had little to say to the switchman, the majority contenting themselves with a nod or word of recognition. Nine o'clock was the time set for the opening of the Supreme Council, but at that hour the representatives of the conductors had not put in an appearance, and the delegates grouped themselves on the sidewalk outside of the hotel and told stories, laughed and joked and talked about everything except the important business that had called them together. It was a decidedly jolly, good-natured little gathering, and there was nothing in the demeanor of a single man to indicate that they would soon be called upon to settle a question involving the continued employment of thousands of men, an immense financial loss and tremendous inconvenience, not to say hardship, to tens of thousands of people. It had originally been intended to hold the conference in the general offices of the Brotherhood of Firemen on Main street, but the side windows of this room front upon a yard attached to a saloon and from which the score or more of newspaper men who are on the scene could have secured an opportunity not only to see but to hear. Hence a change of base to the hotel club room was deemed politic. Grand Chief Howard, with his two substitutes for the regular delegates, who were unable to make the trip from Los Angeles on time, put in an appearance at 9:45 and then there was a general move up stairs, President Sargent leading the way.

COMMENT ON WEBB'S STATEMENT.

The latest statement from Mr. Webb, in which he denies that any of the Central employes were discharged as a result of their connection with the Knights of Labor, and instances numerous offenses, such as drunkenness and incapability, of which the men dismissed were alleged to have been guilty, was read with interest by the delegates before going into the meeting. Only one of them, however, would allow himself to make any public comment upon it, and this one said that it was an eleventh hour defense and came too late to influence either the council or public opinion. "Why," he asked, "did not Webb talk in this strain to Powderly when the latter said that he was fighting for the recognition of his order? Why could he not have discussed the trouble with Powderly on this late day line? simply because he knew if he tried he would find the props knocked out from under him. He would have been asked to prove the charges. He could not have done it then, and he can't now."

WILL SWEENY HOLD OUT?

Unless appearances are decidedly deceptive Switchman Sweeny goes into the conference strongly opposed to the Federation taking any part in the dispute. The Chicago man was very much of a sphinx this morning. He kept aloof from his colleagues after breakfast, walking up and down the corridor, teeth set and a determined look on his face and answering all questions in monosyllables. His opposition, if it materializes and is persisted in, will be sufficient to render the conference futile as a unanimous decision is essential to the issuance of a strike order. Among the crowd of railroad men in the rotunda of the hotel there is a general opinion that no strike will be ordered. Grand Master Sargent before going into the conference, was just as sanguine of victory as he was last night. As soon as the roll had been called he entered upon an exhaustive statement of the trouble of the Central beginning with the discharge of the employes, the steps taken by the district assemblies of the Knights, the intervention of the Executive Board, the appeal to the Federation and the personal experiences of the representatives of the latter. The statement was fortified with elaborate documents, which are being read in detail, and the entire statement will occupy over three hours. A majority of the delegates are anxious to get away to-night, and hence an attempt will be made to reach a conclusion by sundown.

NO DEFINITE RESULT IN SIGHT.

President Sargent concluded his statement shortly after noon, and a general debate ensued. At 12:20 he sent word to the United Press that no definite result was in sight. It is believed that the division in the council is stronger than at first supposed. Report has it that two of the three delegates from the Firemen's Union are opposed to a strike. Great interest is manifested in the outcome of the conference, and soon after the delegates had gone into secret session the rotunda of the hotel began to fill up with railroad men and citizens generally. Mayor Donaldson and Hon. John Harper, counsel for the Brotherhood of Firemen, with several members of the City Council, were conspicuous in the throng. Dispatches from Wall street brokers and city merchants and from a score of towns on the Central read fairly rained upon the hotel people and newspaper correspondents and were all of the same tenor, asking for news early and authentic regarding the outcome of the meeting. Sweeney of Chicago has just left the club room. He says the indications point to the conference continuing until 6 o'clock, and then adjournment until Monday. No immediate decision is probable. Sweeney denies he said to a New York reporter that Sargent and Toucey are intimate friends.

Powderly and Arthur.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—When Mr. Powderly came down stairs this morning he was asked about Chief Arthur's statement that he could not answer a letter which had not been addressed to him personally, but which had been given to the newspapers, Mr. Powderly said:

"Mr. Arthur never answers any communications I send him. When I went to Cleveland I wired him I was going to meet him, and although I scoured the town for him I could not find him. He has never shown a disposition to meet me."

Mr. Powderly was told that Mr. Arthur stated that he had heard nothing of the strike in an official way, but had only read of it in the papers, and that he had not heard of any engineers taking the place of firemen.

"Of course he would not hear of such a thing," said Mr. Powderly, "but if the Knights of Labor did anything of the kind I would very quickly hear of it. Why, his men would just as soon go to Mr. De Pew with their complaints as they would to him. All I want Mr. Arthur to do is to declare which side he is on. Is he for the workmen or for the corporation? When we know this we will know better how to act. It's an easy matter for Mr. Arthur to settle his doubts if he feels inclined to do so."

Speaking of the situation, Mr. Powderly said every telegram he had received last night and this morning was encouraging. There would be a strike, he said, but just when it would be declared or what territory it would cover he did not know. Mr. Powderly talked freely about Mr. Webb's statement that the men were discharged for drunkenness and other causes. "That's what we want to find out," he said. "If they were that's the end of the strike. But we know they were not. That's why we wanted an investigation. I will repir to Mr. Webb's statement to-day."

It was apparent from Mr. Powderly's conversation that the Executive Board had not formulated a plan of the strike. Nearly everything will depend on the Terre Haute meeting, but the Knights will strike whether or not the Supreme Council supports them.

The Situation at New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—This morning Secretary Hayes of the General Executive Board of the Knights of Labor made the following statement to the reporters:

"It is a very strange thing that Mr. Webb should only now say that the Knights discharged from the employ of the road were discharged for drunkenness, incapacity and insubordination. If this was the fact it was a proper case for arbitration and one that the State Board should take hold of. Our Executive Board, however, has gone thoroughly into that matter and knows that there is not one word of truth in what Mr. Webb says." Mr. Hayes further stated that the board would have no meeting to-day but would remain at the hotel in the evening when it would leave for Albany.

Mr. Webb was on hand bright and early this morning at the Grand Central Depot. He most positively denied that there was any truth in the report that Mr. Depew would sail to-day from Southampton for home. "I have heard nothing from him," said Mr. Webb, "and don't expect him until the latter part of September, the time he arranged to return."

Supt. Voorhees made the following important announcement this forenoon: "We have notified all connecting lines that on and after Monday next we will receive and deliver all freight that we may be required to handle."

The Delaware & Hudson Tied Up.

ALBANY, N. Y., August 23.—At noon to-day D. A. 246, K. of L., ordered all its members employed at the Green Island yards of the Delaware & Hudson Railroad, as well as those at work in this city, to strike at once. The order was generally obeyed and this afternoon the Delaware & Hudson Co. finds itself confronted with the same state of affairs that existed about a week ago when a similar tie-up went into effect. The trouble all grows out of the handling of Central freight by the Delaware & Hudson Road. A committee of the Knights waited upon the company yesterday and asked that it be definitely agreed that no more Central freight be moved. A reply was forthcoming from the road this morning to the effect that the company proposed to transport over its lines all freight that might be received. This ultimatum precipitated the tie-up, which embraces yard men and switchmen employed here and at the Green Island.

Uneasiness on the Big Four.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 23.—There is a growing uneasiness among the employes of the Big Four Railroad here. The switchmen of the Big Four recently got an increase in wages, but their demand for shorter hours has not been acceded to, and they have been told to wait till September for an answer, and on that account they are feeling rather aggressive and are looking with special interest for the result of to-day's conference at Terre Haute.

Chicago Stock Yards Switchmen's Strike.

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—The situation at the Stock Yards among the engineers and firemen of the Switching Association who went on strike yesterday, is unchanged to-day. The men are still out, and business is paralyzed at the great slaughtering center. The men are awaiting the result of the meeting of the superintendents of the various railroads composing the association. The superintendents were in session last night and resumed the conference at 11 o'clock to-day with closed doors. It is believed that their deliberations will be unfavorable to the strikers.

Southern Illinois Miners.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 23.—It is believed that the Southern Illinois coal miners will go on strike September 1, as the mine-owners in that part of the State refused to advance wages to the scale paid in Northern Illinois. Railroads which get their coal in that section are putting in supplies in anticipation.

Carried Away the Cash Drawer.

Some sneak thief entered Joseph Langford's saloon, 204 South Eighth street, at 5:30 o'clock this morning and carried away the cash drawer, containing $14 in money, and an American bull dog revolver. The barkeeper was asleep at the time and knew nothing of the theft until half an hour afterwards. This morning the rifled cash drawer was found on a lumber pile at Eighth and Clark avenue.

REAL ESTATE NEWS.

A CORNER AT CHESTNUT AND TENTH SOLD FOR $45,000.

The Site to Be Handsomely Improved—An Abstract of Important Sales on That Street—Ashley Cabell Invests—Improvements in Tyler Place and Chamberlain Park—A New Sewer District—Oak Hill and Other Sales.

The vacant property fronting 60 feet on Chestnut street by a depth of 109 at the northeast corner of Tenth street was sold to-day by the firm of T. S. Noonan & Bro. for $45,000 from the Colline Real Estate & Building Association to Gustavus Schuchmann, the well-known builder and landlord, whose rent roll alone produces an income for him of over $2,000 a month. Mr. Schuchmann bought this valuable business corner for immediate improvement, but at the present time he says he has not fully made up his mind as to what kind of a building he will put there. He is decided on one thing, however, and that is that the structure he is going to put there shall be a fine one which will be of much value to the general interests of Chestnut and the surrounding locality. One party has already offered to take a ten year lease of a part of a suitable building that may be erected there and pay $11,000 a year for the portion he occupies, and a manufacturing concern, Mr. Robert Noonan says, wants to rent the entire building for a salesroom. Both of these propositions are being considered as others will be before Mr. Schuchmann definitely adopts any plan as his object is to get all the revenue he possibly can out of the property.

This sale is quite an important one for Chestnut street as it assures the improvement of an unsightly corner which has remained practically vacant a good many years. The ground when it was covered with old second hand building material was purchased last fall by T. S. Noonnan and W. P. Hill for $35,000. Since then it was sold at an advance of $5,000 to the Colline Real Estate Building Association and now it is sold at another $5,000 advance, showing a total increase of $10,000 in about a year. The northwest corner of the same streets, with the two-story dwelling houses fronting 94 feet on Chestnut by a depth of 109 on Tenth, was bought in December, 1888, for $50,000 by T. S. Noonan, since deceased, and his brother, Robert, is now about to decide upon a plan for rebuilding that site on a creditable scale corresponding with the progress of the street. The southeast corner of Chestnut and Tenth is owned by Bernard Kernan, who bought that property for $50,000 a few months ago. The northwest corner of Chestnut and Seventh, 114x127 feet, which Jay Gould bought in April, 1887, for $83,000 and sold in September, 1889, for $90,000 to Dan Catlin, who sold out for $127,000 to Ellis Wainwright last May, is to be improved with one of the finest buildings in the city, and plans for the structure are now well advanced to completion, the probability being that contracts for the construction will be let shortly. Frank Gerheart, who negotiated this last sale, says numerous parties have already applied for office space in the proposed structure. Another important improvement, but a little more remote, probably about three years off, will be the reconstruction if not the entire rebuilding of the site of the Polytechnic Institute, occupying 109x135 feet at the southwest corner of Chestnut and Tenth streets, which Robert S. Brookings bought from the School Board on the 15th inst. for $120,000, universally admitted by real estate experts to be the cheapest property that was ever sold on the street. The northwest corner of Broadway, where the Houser building is, was bought for $1,940 a foot in 1888, and the premises now occupied by the International Bank at the southeast corner of Fourth street, 42x50 feet, was purchased for $40,000 in April, 1888. In December of the same year Alfred Ryan paid T. S. Noonan $52,000 for the premises numbered 812 to 822 Chestnut, February 10 of last year Edwin Jacobs paid $15,000 for the premises 18x109 feet at the northwest corner of Eleventh, and early last spring Leo Moser bought the vacant southeast corner of Twelfth for $500 a foot.

CHAMBERLAIN PARK.

An increasing appreciation of Chamberlain Park property is being shown by a few of the late purchasers who contemplate building houses there in the near future. F. D. Thompson will soon commence to build on the north side of Bartmer avenue, adjoining the residence of M. Greenwood, Jr., a house costing about $10,000. At the northwest corner of Florence and Bartmer avenues Mr. Ed T. Ustick of Geo. D. Barnard & Co., and Wm. S. Fleming, the druggist, will erect houses to cost from $10,000 to $12,000 each. Mr. Fleming's residence will be built of rough white stone with steep red-slated roof. On the south side, about midway between Union and Florence avenues, Mr. Geo. M. Bartlett, Secretary of the Washington University, will erect for himself a handsome residence soon, he having recently purchased one of the choicest lots there for that purpose. Farther east, on the north side of Bartmer, just west of Union avenue, Mr. Wm. F. Cozzens will erect a neat home place at an expense of from $7,000 to $800. This means an expenditure during the coming season of about $50,000 to $60,000 worth for improvements in this beautiful site, and that, together with the opening of the new Lindell Electric Railroad, which skirts the property on the north, will add greatly to the value of land in Chamberlain Park, one of the highest and prettiest places around St. Louis. The contract for city water having been let leaves nothing further to be desired for the convenience of people who make their homes there.

TYLER PLACE IMPROVEMENTS.

While a good deal of public improvements is going on through the west and northwestern sections the South End in the vicinity of Tower Grove Park is not being neglected by any means, for there is now a large force of men engaged in grading a portion of Tyler place, and in a few days sewer paving and granitoid contractors will be at work there. This improvement is being made by August Gehner and Charles G. Stifel, who bought 5,000 feet of ground on the south side of Castleman avenue in Tyler place at the great auction sale. These gentlemen have set in to make their property in that locality just west of Grand avenue compare favorably with the best improved residence places in the city and when that is done the building sites will doubtless sell at high figures as the Fourth street cable line in connections with the betterments that are being made will make the lots very desirable.

OAK HILL PLACE.

At the rate at which Oak Hill place lots are being sold it will not be long before all the most desirable building sites have been bought up in that new cheap residence subdivision just south of the south central gate of Tower Grove Park on the line of the Union Depot electric road. Yesterday Arthur English sold for the Hammett-Anderson-Wade Real Estate Co. 150 feet front in that tract situate on the south side of Juniata street, about 300 feet east of the Morgan Ford road, at $13 a foot, to John Coxwell, and 50 feet on the north line of Connecticut, about 150 feet east of the Morgan Ford road, near where Dr. Hauck bought to-day before, at $12 a foot, to the same buyer. On the opposide side of Connecticut, about 225 feet east of the Morgan Ford, 100 feet of ground was sold at $12 a foot to Andrew Linn, and 85x125 feet of ground at the southeast corner of the Morgan Ford road and Connecticut street was purchased at $16 a foot by Thomas Morris, the lawyer.

In addition to these sales Dr. Louis Hauck, brother to the gentleman who bought 135 feet last Tuesday, purchased a 50-foot building site on the south of Connecticut situate about one hundred and seventy-five feet from the Morgan Ford road at $12 a foot.

The northeast corner of the Morgan Ford road, fronting 70 feet, was also sold yesterday at $16 a foot to Benjamin Berger, manager for Arnheim, the tailor. Two lots on the east side of the Morgan Ford road, fronting 70 feet, between Connecticut and Juniata, were also sold at $15 a foot to Mrs. Margaret Quigley.

THE ALEXANDER HOMESTEAD SOLD.

The old Alexander homestead, a part of Alexander place on Osage street, south of Cherokees, has been purchased by George Smith, a Chicago real estate operator, who bought the property from Col. A. K. Florida for $12,500. The premises consist of 100x127 feet of ground and the stone dwelling of twelve rooms, all of which Col. Florida has put in first-class repair.

EAST ST. LOUIS.

Arrangements for the Opening of the Broadway Viaduct—Belleville News.

Coroner Woods was called this morning to Reeb Station on the Cairo Short Line road, between East St. Louis and Belleville, to hold an inquest over the remains of a woman who was accidentally killed there last night. The unfortunate woman was Mrs. Joseph Stoll, wife of a coal miner of Reeb Station. She was killed about 7 o'clock p. m. At that hour she was gathering grass near the track; and in doing so crossed the rails once or twice. As she started across for the last time a locomotive came along the track and was upon her before she could get out of the way. She was thrown some distance away from the rails and instantly killed. She was 52 years old and partially deaf, and that accounts for her not hearing the whistle, which the engineer claims was sounded.

At a meeting of the City Council yesterday afternoon Mayor Stephens made the announcement that the viaduct will be completed next week and be formally opened for travel on Saturday, the 30th inst. He also announced that Mayor E. A. Noonan of St. Louis would deliver an address upon the opening of the viaduct at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and that a barbecue to be arranged for by J. T. McCasland would be held at Pecan Grove. The Council took immediate action on the announcement by deciding to defray the expense of music, etc. A petition was received by the Council from the W. C. T. U. asking that the saloons of the city be closed on Sunday. The petition was referred to a committee with instructions to report at the next regular meeting. An electric lamp was ordered to be placed at the corner of Sixth street and St. Louis avenue, near the Lincoln School.

Belleville.

Police Officer George Kreitner tendered his resignation to Mayor Rainey yesterday and asked to be relieved from duty immediately. Officer Kreitner was one of the patrolmen who preferred charges against Capt. Kayaing, and it is understood that the failure of the Police Commissioners to expel the Captain on the strength of those charges is the prime cause of his resignation.

Recently a little child of Wm. Nauert was run over by a Cairo Short Line freight train at New Athens and so badly injured that one of it legs was amputated. Yesterday suit was brought in the Circuit Court for the child and against the St. Louis, Alton & Terre Haute Railway Co. for $10,000 damages. The father also commenced suit against the company, claiming $8,000 damages for loss of time and services caused by the injury to his child.

Bonnell said that Anderson and a man named Dewing had gotten into a difficulty on board a Wabash train near Kansas City about 9:30 o'clock last night, in which Anderson had used a revolver, firing several balls at Dewing, one of which passed through his coat. Bonnell knew nothing of the cause of the quarrel, and Anderson refused to talk. He admitted that he had had trouble with Deming and was locked up to await an investigation. Dr. Dalton was of the opinion that death had resulted from cramps of the stomach, but decided on account of the wound on the head to place the case in the hands of the Coroner for full investigation. CLUBBED TO DEATH.

A PRIVATE WATCHMAN FRACTURES THE SKULL OF AN OBSTINATE MAN.

An Employe at the Missouri Car-Works Insists on Passing the Gate After Hours and Fights the Watchman When Hindered—The Latter's Club Puts an End to the Man's Life.

At about 10 o'clock this morning Private Watchman Sherman Hewitt walked into the Four Courts and surrendered himself, to await the result of an inquest on the body of Godfrey Delker. It appears that at about 5 o clock yesterday afternoon Delker was clubbed by Hewitt in the yards of the Missouri Car-works, Louisa and DeKalb streets. Delker died a little more than four hours afterward at his home, 2849 Lyons street. Hewitt is now locked up in a cell. He is a licensed private watchman and has for some time been employed by the Missouri Car Co. as night guard at their works. Delker was a machinist and was also employed at the place. It appears that Delker and another man named John Gill made their appearance at the gate leading to the works shortly after 5 o'clock and were by Hewitt ordered to go away. They told the watchman they were employed at the place, but he insisted that no one was allowed to go inside the yards after 5 o'clock. These words brought on a quarrel, Delker insisting on going inside to get some of his tools which he had left. An instant later the two were together. Hewitt had his club in his hand at the time and used it with full force over his opponent's head and body.

THE NATURE OF THE INJURIES.

The conflict was a short one. Delker fell off beaten and dropped to the ground. Gill rushed forward and picked him up. The watchman then retreated inside the works and Delker was assisted to his home. Dr. Kessler, 2838 South Seventh street, was called and found the man's skull had been terribly fractured. An operation was commenced, but before completion Delker was dead. A hemorrhage of the brain probably carried him off. Soon as the man's condition was found to be critical the police of the Second District were notified of the trouble. No action was taken, however, and Hewitt was permitted to remain on duty the rest of the night at the works.

This morning he surrendered himself. He had heard of the death of his victim and about 10 o'clock he proceeded to the Four Courts. He told Capt. Young that he had killed Delker in self-defense and was searched and locked up. An official investigation of the fight was then commenced and Delker's body was removed to the Morgue. Hewitt was seen in his cell and questioned in regard to the killing. The prisoner is a big, brawny laborer, over six feet tall and well built. He admitted that he had used his club on Delker and said:

"The man came to the works after 5 o'clock and I would not let him go in. He insisted that he had a right to go in—that he was one of the workmen and would go in whether I wanted him to or not. I answered that my orders were to keep everybody out of the works after hours and told him very distinctly that I intended to obey those orders. Delker tried to push past me into the yards and I shoved him back. Then he struck me in the face with his fist and tried to grab my club.

IN SELF-DEFENSE.

"Then I struck him a light blow on the side of the head with a stick. He grabbed me around the waist and tried to throw me off my feet. I used my club on his body after that and only hit him once on the head. He soon got enough of it and stepped back. I did not want any more trouble and went into the yards. He was able to walk away at the time, and I did not suppose he was much hurt or I should have gone at once and surrendered to the police. Early this morning I heard that he was dead and gave myself up as soon as I could go home and change my clothes."

A casual examination of Delker's body shows that he was badly beaten in the fight. A post-mortem examination will be held some time this afternoon in order to ascertain the exact cause of death. The inquest will probably be held to-morrow afternoon in case the witnesses can be obtained. The fight was seen by John Gill, Ed C. McClure and Harrison Harding. McClure lives at 3335 South Second street, while Harding's home is at 2620 Second Carondelet avenue. Gill's residence cannot be ascertained. As he is the most important witness in the case, the investigation will doubtless be postponed until he can be produced.

Delker was a middle-aged man, a widower, and lived with his three children at 2838 Lyons street. He was a machinist by occupation and bore an excellent reputation among his associates and friends. Hewitt is a single man, 30 years old, and lives at 2824 South Second street.

THE STOCK BROKERS.

The Stock Market Undergoing a Siege—The Losses of Banks.

By Private Wire to Gaylord, Blessing & Co.

NEW YORK, 8:50 a. m.—According to the statement to the clearing house last evening of fifteen of the city banks, principally engaged in the business with the interior, this week they show a loss of $1,645,000, including in this amount $550,000 in gold, the most of the latter going to the Bank of Montreal. S. V. White said the department shows it has the will to do justice to the commercial interests of the country and the stock market is just now through a siege, out of which will come a healthy and confident speculation. In St. Paul Slayback was prancing and jumping for stock, Kirkner was bidding for Missouri Pacific, while Vanderbilt houses were buying Lake Shore and three C's & St. L. and Wormser wanted Sugar and Lake Shore on orders to buy. There was no volume of stocks seeking a market and the short interest, he declared, was very large. Some of the shrewdest brokers in the board believe it is true that Gould has been buying stock lately, while slashing Rock Island and Atchison, both of which he hated.

From Financial Chronicle: Banks lost to Interior $1,508,000, to sub-Treasury $400,000; total loss, $1,908,000.

Two hundred and twenty-two roads for June gained in gross earnings, $6,337,851, equal to 9.94 per cent. Two hundred and forty roads, ending June 30, gained in gross earnings $46,451,782, equal to 11.69 per cent. Ninety-nine roads for first week of August gained in gross earnings $466,300, equal to 7.45 per cent. Sixty-five roads for second week of August gained in gross earnings $519,411, equal to 9.83 per cent.

10:46 a. m.—Pension disbursements so far this month $19,000,000, and total disbursements of Treasury, not including payments for silver and bonds, exceed the receipts. Windom here says that the present situation does not call for further relief.

NEW YORK, 11 a. m.—Freight-hands of Delaware & Hudson struck.

REDEEMING GOVERNMENT BONDS.

The Sub-Treasurer Prepared to Take Them Up as Presented.

The official notification of the order of the Secretary of the Treasurer for the purchase of $20,000,000 of 4½ per cent bonds was received by Sub-Treasurer C. D. Schultz this morning. These bonds are payable in 1891, and will be paid by the Sub-Treasurer with interest to maturity. The interest will be paid on September 1, and the bonds must be presented before that date. These figures place the value of the bonds at about 104½. It is estimated that about $1,000,000 worth of bonds will be redeemed in this city.

The Benevolent Fraternity.

A regular meeting of St. Louis Council, No. 21, United States Benevolent Fraternity, was held on last evening at their hall, No. 11 South Tenth street. A large number of members were present in response to a special call of the Secretary for amending a section of the by-laws of the Council. A resolution was proposed and carried, giving additional power to the Executive Committee to continue the awarding of medals for meritorious services to the members who secure the highest number of applicants for admission to the council, and also liberal means for promoting the interests of the order in giving entertainments during the approaching winter season. There were three applicants for admission and two new members initiated, after which the meeting adjourned till the second Tuesday in September next.

TO AVOID DISGRACE.

A Prominent Kansas Banker and Speculator Commits Suicide.

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—A special dispatch from Oskaloosa, Kan., says: John N. Insley, Assistant Cashier of the Oskaloosa State Bank, real estate dealer and abstractor, committed suicide in his office yesterday. He shot himself four times in the region of the heart. At the death of Eli Metzger, a wealthy citizen of Jefferson County, in 1885, Insley was appointed administrator of his estate. A short time ago he filed his final report of settlement. Judge Huron of Topeka, who was guardian of the minor heirs, and some of the heirs who had reached their majority, took exception to the report and a referee was appointed by the court to investigate. The referee has been at work on Insley's books for the last week and the investigation has shown that Insley was short several thousand dollars in his accounts. Insley was 53 years of age and leaves a wife and four grown children. He owned a large amount of property but it is found to have been heavily encumbered.

Beyond the Reach of Parental Wrath.

RUTHERFORD, N. J., Aug. 23.—Young I. Harrison Carter hurried into the railway station at 9 o'clock Thursday, and, while buying a ticket to New York, told the station-master that he was about to elope with Miss Ella Zimmerman, a sister of Assemblyman George Zimmerman. "The old man will shoot me if he catches us," said Carter, and he hastened nervously from the platform to the steps of an unoccupied house near by where Miss Zimmerman sat with two girl friends, who had gone to see her off. When the New York train arrived, shortly before 10 o'clock, Carter bundled Miss Zimmerman quickly into the car, and in three minutes was beyond the reach of Zimmerman's wrath. Carter is a wood engraver. It is learned that the couple were married on their arrival in New York.

Killed by a Squaw.

ASHLAND, Wis., Aug. 23.—Details of a probable murder on the Chippewa Indian Reservation Thursday night has been received here. The victim was Mrs. A. L. Setter, wife of a French lumberman living east of Hayward. An Indian woman named Larush called at the Setters' cabin to beg alms, but was refused. Attacking Mrs. Setter with her fists and nails she inflicted fatal injuries. The squaw was rather unwillingly given up by the other Indians and was taken to jail at Hayward.

Is the Mayor authorized by the city charter to send in to the Council a nomination with a string to it?

ANOTHER installment of the correspondence of the popular lady teachers will appear in to-morrow's SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH.

TWO-THIRDS of the joy of a Senatorial career would be destroyed by a gag rule and hence a majority of the Senators will vote against it.

THE advertising columns of the POST-DISPATCH—DAILY and SUNDAY—are already giving indications of a gratifying autumnal boom.

SOME of QUAY'S "dignified silence" would adorn the hypocritical Republican leaders who are howling about his open assumption of bosshood.

THE filling in of the lake front site for the Chicago World's Fair should not be such a stupendous job. According to the report of the Board of Health it will only require a small addition of soil to change lake water into a solid.

WITH a maximum temperature of 74 deg. yesterday, and an early start at 54 5-10 deg. this morning no one need stay away from St. Louis through fear of hot weather. The stars in their courses are helping St. Louis in her warfare against the ice monopoly, infant mortality and other summer troubles.

DELEGATE MONTGOMERY, the only negro member of the Mississippi Constitutional Convention, is a negro Republican, but he proves himself better than many of his white brethren by favoring the Australian ballot system, although it would probably disfranchise many ignorant negro voters. If there are many negroes of the Montgomery kind in the South the solution of the race problem is not hopeless.

ST. LOUIS is not going to be represented by a single Hoodlum in the next Congress. The boodlers may scare off all respectable Democratic aspirants in the Ninth District, but there is not the slightest danger of the election of any Hoodlum they may foist upon the district as the Democratic nominee, and they know it. They have a distinct understanding on that subject with the "fried fat" dispensers at Washington.

THE apology of Dhuleep Singh, ex-Maharajah of Labore, for protesting in an ungentlemanly manner against the seizure of his domain and the robbery of the Kohinoor diamond by the British, has been accepted by Queen Victoria. He has been pardoned and restored to royal favor. The generosity of the Queen in thus forgiving such unseemly conduct on the part of an Indian Prince cannot be praised too highly.

THE Property Defense League, which has just been formed by the [illegible] holders of England to oppose socialis[illegible] tendencies would undoubtedly acco[illegible] more in the interest of fair property rights by reforming land tenure laws than by denouncing the schemes of Socialists. It is the injustice of certain land laws which have been strenuously maintained in Great Britain which is responsible for most of the discontent prevailing among landless English people.

THE RISE IN SILVER.

Silver was rising in price before our new silver law was passed, but it is very probable that the more rapid rise since was largely due to that measure. When the Government of the largest silver-producing country in the world pledged itself to buy, store away in vaults and withdraw from the markets 54,000,000 ounces per annum, with the avowed purpose of creating a silver famine and sending the price up, it would have been strange if no such effect had followed.

But those who are crediting the entire rise to this cornering operation will hardly be able to show why the same effect would not have followed the passage of a bil providing for the free coinage of the entire output of our mines. That would have withdrawn the same amount of silver bullion every year from the market. If the silver in the dollar should be sent up to par by this measure within two years, the men who rejected BLAND'S free coinage bill will be condemned by the success of their own substitute, and will be held responsible for the depression of silver which followed their defeat of BLAND'S first free coinage act twelve years ago.

If the storing of the whole output of our mines in Treasury vaults for a series of years speedily brings the silver dollar to par when the stored silver is not coined, but represented in circulation by silver note currency, the mere coining of the stored silver before issuing the notes thereon could not alter the effect.

A STATE'S DILEMMA.

The advocates of the educational qualification for voters in Mississippi take the ground that it will disfranchise but 11,889 of the 118,890 white voters, while it will disfranchise 123,334 of the 189,884 negro voters. This would confine the voting to 107,001 white and 66,550 negro voters, and give the whites so large a majority that they could afford to permit perfectly fair and peaceful elections.

If it is necessary to disfranchise the negro majority in any State it is better to do it lawfully than unlawfully, and the educational qualification is preferable to a property qualification as a means of disfranchisement. But if there are 189,884 negro voters in Mississippi and only 118,890 white voters, how is this proposed new Constitution to be ratified? If the negroes all vote against the disfranchisement of two-thirds of their race, there will be a majority of over 70,000 against it, even if every white vote in the State is polled for it.

The whole country will watch with curious interest to see how the Mississippi disfranchisers will get over this difficulty. If the disfranchisement is ratified by a fair count of the popular vote cast at a free and fair election, such a result will be a remarkable manifestation of political self-denial on the part of the colored population.

But if there is only a bogus popular ratification, secured by terrorism and fraud apparent on the face of the proceeding, a very grave question will arise whether the United States can discharge its duty of guaranteeing a republican form of government in each State, and yet permit the majority race in one State to be disfranchised by an unlawful, violent and revolutionary process. Will the Federal authority, legislative, executive and judicial, recognize as valid a constitution and a government foisted upon the people of a State by such a process?

THE conduct of the New York Central strike has shown a weakness in the organization of the Knights of Labor which is almost fatal to successful executive management. It appears that a local assembly may order a strike without the permission of or even consultation of the Executive Board, which is called upon afterward to investigate it and indorse or condemn the local assembly's action. After a local strike has been ordered both sides are embittered and much loss, which cannot be made up, is occasioned. Then the condemnation of the local assembly in the ordering of a general strike is inevitable. An Executive Board which can order a strike and is responsible for the care of strikers and yet cannot prevent a strike, occupies an unfortunate position, to say the least.

THE Mayor has brought his contest with the Council over the Street Commissionership to the level of trick-playing for advantage. In order to carry out his scheme with reference to the appointment he is prepared to withdraw whatever nomination the Council may be considering at the first sign of an adjournment for vacation. In this way he hopes to be able to put the man he wants into office for a few months at any rate. The withdrawal of Maj. MURPHY'S name last evening was undoubtedly a trick of this sort. The Council can prevent the Mayor's game only by refusing to take a vacation. The issue is important enough to warrant the sacrifice.

Knew He'd Have To.

From the Terre Haute Express.

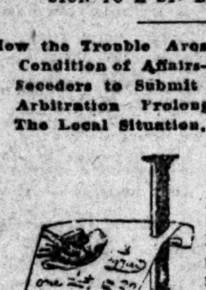

Mrs. Wickwire: "If you go first you will wait for me on the other shore, won't you, dear?"

Mr. Wickwire: "I suppose so. I never went anywhere yet without having to wait for you at least half an hour."

THE HIBERNIAN SPLIT.

ONE OF THE SECEDERS REFUSED ADMISSION TO A ST. LOUIS LODGE.

How the Trouble Arose and the Present Condition of Affairs—The Refusal of the Seceders to Submit All Difficulties to Arbitration Prolonging the Dispute—The Local Situation.

IT is now six years since the split took place in the ranks of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, but a spasmodic effort is now being made by the seceders to get recognition. St. Louis Hibernians look on the matter with calm indifference. They say that at the time of the secession, which was the result of a breach of discipline and punishment therefor, one small lodge of the spurious order was formed here, but that it dwindled away into insignificance so rapidly that few are now aware whether it still lives or has quietly suicided. Dan Linahan, a prominent local Hibernian, said this morning:

"The Ancient Order of Hibernians is really a very simple order with nothing mysterious or secret about it. It charges itself with the interment of deceased members, and takes care that neither members nor members' families become dependent upon charity for a livelihood. It doesn't make anyone rich, but it keeps an immense number from being poor, or at any rate destitute. Every Catholic priest is an honorary member and is admitted to meetings without question.

"This secession took place before I was prominently connected with the order, and it is confined almost entirely to the East. The seceders got wrong somehow though really the rules of the order only called upon members to pay their dues and behave themselves. Some few went with them and after a good deal of negotiation the matter was left to Archbishop Corrigan, who deputed Mgr. Farley to act as arbitrator. Father Farley undertook to decide the matter provided both parties would agree to abide by his decision. The genuine and only order at once prepared a case, submitted it to the arbitrator and agreed in writing to abide by his decision. But the seceders had no case to submit so they submitted none, now did they formerly agree to acknowledge the award. The result was the whole matter fell through.

NOT TROUBLED AT ALL.

"We are going on all right and are not giving a second thought to the seceders. The other day a man tried to get into my lodge. I asked him for the password, but he hadn't got it nor could he give me the preceding password. I soon found out that he belonged to one of the seceding lodges, and hence wasn't a Hibernian at all. I told him of this and advised him to join the order and become a genuine Hibernian. This is our advice to all. We have blacklisted no one and all the kickers are welcome whenever they feel disposed to come in with us, provided, of course, they obey our rules, which are perfectly reasonable."

The following letter from Mgr. Farley bears out Mr. Linahan's story:

ST. GABRIEL'S CHURCH, NO. 98 EAST THIRTY-SEVENTH ST., NEW YORK.

Mr. M. F. Wilhere, N. D., Philadelphia:

DEAR SIR—Your esteemed favor is received, in which you ask for a statement of the present condition of the proposed arbitration between the two sections of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. In reply I have only to say that so far I have had no communication from the other party to the controversy, and therefore have been unable to act in the matter. The whole facts of the case, as far as I have had any connection with it, are these: In August of last year his Grace the Most Rev. Archbishop of New York requested me to act as arbitrator between the two wings of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. I made it a condition of my acceptance that duly authorized representatives of both sides should place in my hands, before any time or place of meeting was fixed, a written promise to abide by my decision, together with a summary of the questions at issue. I informed you of this condition, and duly received from you the necessary promise, with a brief history of the difficulties to be dealt with. You also wrote me that you had informed the other parties of my appointment, and of the condition placed. I am still awaiting their good pleasure.

Regretting that it has not been in my power to contribute toward the reconciliation of two such influential and numerous bodies of Catholic Irishmen, and hoping that some means may be soon found of restoring harmony to their ranks, I am, my dear sir, very faithfully,

JOHN M. FARLEY.

USING STRONG LANGUAGE.

The fight is waxing very warm in Chicago, where Pat Grant, who signs himself "a Railroad Laborer," is writing some strong letters on the subject. Mr. Grant is very hard on Mr. Wilhere and in a recent letter denounces him in the following language:

"Mr. Wilhere is trying to force a union by fair means or by foul upon the other side. The members were, and are, steadily falling away from him. How the genuine order escaped all the various pitfalls prepared for it and defeated all the plans—first, to betray it, second to wreck it, and third to capture it—is a miracle which only supernatural wisdom can alone reveal. Like a soldier who goes into battle and escapes the rain of bullets falling everywhere around him, it has had a charmed life. There was a triangle of priests successively presented to it—Fathers Salter, Lavelle and Dougherty. There was a triangle of schemers—McNeils of Indiana, O'Connor of Georgia, and Wilhere of Pennsylvania—in waiting for days and nights, seeking a union in order that they might control the order, which they failed to destroy, and like Englishmen in the case of Ireland at the union of 1800, actuated only by the prophetic desire which Dr. Johnson so forcibly expressed, when he said: 'We will only unite with you to rob you.' This was what they were there for. It was for this object all these manipulations were carried out on both sides of the water. With that view all these letters were written, all these committees appointed. There was not a particle of honesty in the tone or attitude of Wilhere's party to the other side. It was refined trickery all through, even down to the denunciation of the order from Ireland a few days ago."

A PREMATURE ANNOUNCEMENT.

David Simons Reads a Notice of His Own Alleged Death.

While Dave Simons, the well-known horse dealer, was breakfasting yesterday and glancing through the columns of one of the morning papers he was suddenly startled by reading the following notice:

SIMONS—Suddenly, at his residence, No. 918 North High street, DAVID SIMONS, Treasurer of Daughters of Rebekah, aged 83 years.
Funeral private.
Louisville papers please copy.

To say that the notice took his breath away is to state the case mildly. Dave is the very picture of health, weighs over 200 pounds and has no intention whatever of dying. He does business at Martin Bros.' stables, on North Broadway, and has the reputation of being an exceptionally live, as well as good-hearted fellow. His family are away at Louisville and he did not sleep at home last night. Very early this morning his friends began calling at his residence loaded with condolence and overflowing with curiosity as to the time and cause of Dave's most untimely and unexpected demise. They could get no information, none of the neighbors knowing anything about the supposed event or where Mr. Simons was. Later on inquiries began to be made at the stables and no less than four undertakers telephoned for particulars.

In the meantime Dave had looked up the other morning paper and found his death announced with the same degree of certainty and detail. He didn't get mad, remembering that he has been at the bottom of several good jokes, and recognizing the fact that he who freely gives must also sometimes take. His chief anxiety is lest his family at Louisville may be alarmed in some way and he lost no time in telegraphing them assurances to the fact that so far from being dead, he never felt better in his life.

Charged With Stealing $1,900.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Emma Morgan, alias Forger, an Octoroon who has figured in several scrapes in San Francisco and Denver, Colo., was arrested here yesterday and arraigned in court to-day by Central office detectives. She is charged with robbing a wealthy and prominent merchant of Spokane Falls with whom she kept company on a visit to this city. When he left her here he missed $1,900 of his money and he notified the police. The police refused to disclose the merchant's name. Emma was remanded until the merchant is notified of her capture.

AS THEY VIEW IT.

Missouri Men and Matters in the Exchanges—Personal Sketches.

From the St. Joseph Ballot.

The Colorado exhibit for the coming St. Louis Exposition is now on its way eastward. It will be the finest show ever made by any Western State. It consists of more than a dozen carloads, and will occupy the entire northeast nave of the Exposition building. Nearly every county in Colorado has contributed to the collection. Two hundred thousand pounds of minerals and $3,000 worth of designs in grains and grasses are in the exhibit, together with innumerable specimens of the fauna, flora and ornithology of the State, collections of agates, petrifactions, fossils, marbles, mineral waters, Indian and cliff dwellers' relics, galleries of paintings and pictures, coals, coke, oils, photographs of mines, quarries and canals, over five hundred jars of native fruits, and vegetables grown especially for the display. One exhibit of minerals, from 100 mines, is valued at $50,000. An extra effort is made in the agricultural line, and several hundred varieties of wheat will be shown. The same with fruits, of which the pears, peaches and grapes vie with California in flavor and beauty. One county sends a balloon decorated by the ladies with cereals and grasses. There will also be a great variety of berries and cane and vine products, preserved by an embalming process. El Paso County will furnish mineral waters bottled in novel glassware. The Colorado system of irrigation will be illustrated and from a minature gorge will be distributed into miniature fields, and there will be also photographs picturing men at work in the fields. With all these will be minor attractions, all intended to exemplify the national advantages and development of Colorado.

Jesse James Souvenirs for Travelers.

From the St. Joseph (Mo.) News.

There was a party of us on the train going to the Rocky Mountains and the news agent badgered us so that one of us got a lurid narrative of Jesse James' life just to get rid of the fellow. He read pieces of it to us and we got so enthusiastic that we stopped off a day at St. Joseph to look at the house Jesse was killed in.

When we had climbed the bluff at Convent Hill and a darkey pointed out the shanty our ardor began to diminish. We knocked at the door and a woman opened it, looked at us awhile and then said:

"Want to see the house Jesse James was shot in?"

We said we did.

"Well, this is it. Just come right in. There ain't no shooting around here now." We came into a miserably furnished room, and passing through she showed us a perfectly bare room.

"Thar' it is; jist as it was the day they shot 'im. Right thar's whar he stood. Right outside this winder's whar the Ford boys stood."

The floor was all whittled and pieces cut out of it. One of us suggested that we get some relics to take back East with us.

"We would like to have a small piece of the floor as a momento," said one.

"Well," she said, "We don't make no habit o' sellin' sich, but seein' as you's all the way from back East, why, I'll let you have a piece each at half a dollar apiece."

She cut small slices of the flooring and gave us each one, and when we had paid her and passed around to the yard, we heard the woman saying to somebody in the house:

"John, guess ye'd better hev the carpenter come up and put a new floor in thet room. This is the fourth we've hed in it and it's nigh all cut away."

A St. Louis Man Is President.

From the Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

The eighth annual Convention of the American Society of Florists assembled at Boston yesterday in Horticultural Hall, where the decorations of the Grand Army still made the place a pleasing scene. The gathering was called to order by A. P. Calder, President of the Gardeners' and Florists' Club of Boston, who introduced Lieut.-Gov. Haile to welcome the visitors to the State. His address was followed by one from Mayor Hart giving a greeting in behalf of the city. Responses to both addresses were made by Robert Craig of Philadelphia, President Jordan of the society, in his annual address, said the society had a great mission to perform in educating gardeners for their daily vocation, and also the masses in horticulture, increasing the interest until the society embraced all the leading men in the country interested in these pursuits. He believed that gifts to horticulture should be encouraged from the millionaires of the country who were looking for benevolent means of disposing of their property. In closing, President Jordan of St. Louis said: "He who plants a tree (and makes it grow) builds a monument to his name; or makes two blades of grass grow where but one grew before, will not lose his reward."

Prosecuting Attorney Schafer of St. Clair.

From the Washington Post.

"I know personally scores of farmers who have always voted the Republican ticket that will cast Democratic ballots this fall," said Mr. Martin P. Schafer, a talented young lawyer of Belleville, Ill. Mr. Schafer is Prosecuting Attorney for St. Clair County, and is regarded as one of the rising men of his section. "The reason," he continued, "for this change of sentiment is found in the tariff. I don't think the farmers of America can any longer be made to believe that a protective tariff benefits them in the slightest. They have stood by this policy and have grown poorer and poorer. In our country they openly declare their intention of voting the other way hereafter."

Base Ball Possibilities.

From the New York Mail and Express.

The Sporting Times publishes in its current issue a sensational story to the effect that the Athletic, St. Louis and Louisville clubs were to drop out of the Association and the Buffalo and Pittsburg Players' League clubs out of the Brotherhood. The plan looks to the consolidation of the Athletic and Philadelphia clubs and the substitution of Louisville and St. Louis in the circuit instead of Pittsburg and Buffalo. Ward's Brooklyn club will most probably move to Baltimore or Washington.

From a Missouri Patch.

From the New York Tribune.

The 20,000 watermelons, shipped by the growers of Charleston, Mo., to New York, were sold at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at No. 103 Park place, by E. L. Goodsell, auctioneer. The sale did not take more than ten minutes. The lowest price obtained per hundred was $16.50. The sale was highly satisfactory to Mr. Goodsell and he is of the opinion that its result will lead the Missouri growers to repeat the experiment. Strange as it may seem, there was not a colored man at the sale.

SMALL FIRES.

A Stable on the Natural Bridge Road Destroyed—Blaze on California Avenue.

At 3:15 o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the frame stable in the rear of the residence of Fred Schulte, 4311 Natural Bridge road, and an alarm was given from box 566. The stable was totally destroyed together with several sets of harness which were in the place at the time. The loss will amount to $300, fully covered by insurance. The fire is supposed to be of incendiary origin.

Officers Gaffney and Boone of the Fifth District turned in an alarm from box 625 at 4:50 o'clock this morning for a blaze in the two-story brick building at 2909 California avenue. A gasoline stove had exploded in the kitchen of the residence of Mrs. Angela Kroner on the second floor and the flames spread rapidly. Mrs. Kroner's loss on furniture is $200, while the effects of Peter Quirk on the first floor were damaged to the amount of $100. The building, which is owned by Quirk, was damaged to the amount of $800. All loss is covered by insurance.

A still alarm was given to Engine Company No. 11 at 10:20 o'clock yesterday morning for a small blaze in the kitchen in the rear of the residence of Frank Stark, 2128 Bismark street. Damages to the amount of $100 were done.

BORNE BACK TO SWEDEN.

DEPARTURE OF THE REMAINS OF INVENTOR AND PATRIOT ERICCSON.

The Government's Plans for the Transfer of the Casket Successfully Carried Out—The Funeral Ship and Its Escort of Cruisers—The March From the Cemetery to Baltimore—Route of the Procession.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The morning of the day which was to witness the solemnly imposing departure for Sweden of the remains of Capt. John Ericcson, patriot and inventor, began cloudy and threatening over the city of New York and the waters of its magnificent harbor. The programme arranged by Rear Admiral Braine, Capt. J. N. Miller of the Brooklyn Navy Yard and Capt. B. S. Osborn of the Naval Veterans' Association to successfully carry out the elaborate preparations undertaken by the Federal Government for the transfer of the remains of the late Capt. Ericcson from the marble cemetery in this city to the cruiser Baltimore for conveyance to Sweden was most satisfactorily carried out. The old monitor Nantucket, freshly painted, and with her turrets draped in black, had been towed from the Navy Yard in Brooklyn and placed in the position of honor, immediately behind the funeral ship Baltimore, and the Dispatch, from which latter ship Secretary Tracy witnessed the carrying out of the orders of the Navy Department in connection with the matter in hand.

THE WHITE SQUADRON.

Following these two vessels in order of procession were the other ships of the famous new squadron of evolution, or white squadron, recently returned from the Mediterranean Sea and South American waters. On their left were anchored the Pensacola, Dolphin, Yantic, Alarm Kearsarge and Enterprise. The Philadelphia, Admiral Gherardi's flagship, under orders for sea; the Vesuvius, Vermount and Minnesota, all laid up for repairs, were represented by their launches and rowing boats and acted as an escort to the tug Nina on the trip from the pier to the Baltimore with the remains. The fighting ships with their decks holystoned and their guns and brasses burnished to a degree presented a brilliant spectacle as they lay in the blue waters of the harbor with the colossal statue of Liberty towearing in the naer prespective.

At the navy yard all things were early in readiness for the prompt movement of marines and blue jackets to the various positions assigned them. The flags of the City Hall and those on many private buildings were at half mast. To the heart of the city, from all its quarters, acting under the sharp spur of naval discipline, came hurrying to their different rendezvous as early as 11 o'clock the members of the various military, scientific and other organizations participating in the solemnities and marching column.

ERICCSON'S REMAINS.

So effectively had the instructions of Admiral Braine and his assistants been executed that a few moments before 12:30 the casket containing the remains of Capt. Ericcson emerged from the gate of the marble cemetery on Second street, where it had been deposited after his death in this city on March 8, 1889. The casket was placed in the waiting hearse, which was immediately surrounded by the guard of honor, composed of veteran seamen who had seen service on the Ericcson monitors. As the body was borne from the cemetery gate to the hearse the Scandinavian singing societies sang an anthem. The escort of United States marines, after having presented arms during the passage of the casket from the cemetery to the hearse, rapidly came to "Attention" in their position on the right of the line and with remarkable alacrity organization after organization in the main column, already formed, closed up on the right and prepared for the order to march.

THE FUNERAL MARCH.

Promptly at the appointed hour, 12:30 p. m., Capt. W. A. Kirkland, U. S. N., who had been designated by Admiral Braine to act as Grand Marshal, placed himself with his aides immediately behind the police escort and at the head of the column, and gave the order to march. In a moment with bands playing the marches for the dead, muffled drums ruffling funeral beats, bells solemnly tolling iron-voiced laments for the departed and with innumerable crepe bound national flags borne aloft, the route for the point of embarkation was taken. It lay along Second street to Second avenue, to St. Mark's place, through Astor place, to Broadway, to Battery place, thence to Pier A, North River, where the tug Nina awaited the arrival of the body to convey it to the Baltimore. The procession moved in the following order:

Platoon of police. Grand Marshal and aides.
Navy Yard Band.
Thirteenth New York Regiment Drum and Bugle Corps.
Battalion of United States Marines.
Hearse, accompanied by Monitor seamen,
Body bearers.
Invited guests in carriages.
Amaranthus and Manhem Lodges of Odd Fellows.
American Society of Swedish Engineers.
American Society of Civil Engineers.
American Society of Mechanical Engineers.
Marine Society of the City of New York.
Swedish division.
Norwegian-American Seamen's Association.
Farragut Naval Veteran Association, G. A. R.
Naval Post, 516, G. A. R.
Stevens' Naval Post of Hoboken, G. A. R.
Rankin Post, No. 10, G. A. R.
Wm. Lloyd Garrison Post, No. 207, G. A. R.
Representation from Delameter Iron-works.
Osborn Cadets.
Lodges of Odd Fellows.

One of the first things remarked of the column of over 10,000 men as it moved down the great metropolitan main artery was that it formed one of the most novel in character and impressive in demeanor that had ever trod the stones of Broadway.

VIEWING THE PAGEANT.

Men of the regular armed forces of the nations, citizens representing the highest achievements of American engineering skill; sailors who were marines before, during and after the time when men went down to the sea in iron casements, veterans of the civil war, Odd Fellows, and unassuming mechanics, all were there to testify by their presence their respect for the memory of the old man who had given the best fruits of his virile genius to the service of his adopted country. Along the route of procession great numbers of people were gathered wherever a good view of the pageant could be obtained. At Battery place and vicinity, immediately contiguous to pier A, the crowd was something wonderful. Good order was maintained, however, the people seeming to be impressed with unusual sense of the dignity of the occasion and comported themselves accordingly. As the carriages occupied by the distinguished guests moved on their way Secretary Tracy, Rear Admiral Braine and his guest, Rear Admiral Worden, the old commander of the Ericson Monitor, the gentlemen representing the Government of Norway, Sweden and others prominently identified with the occasion, who were speedily recognized by the people on the sidewalks. The Swedish Minister was represented by his secretary, Baron de Fries. In a letter to Admiral Braine the Minister stated that owing to ill health he would not be able to take part in the ceremonies.

AT THE PIER.

When the cortege arrived at Pier A the marines quickly moved by columns of fours to the right and left of the roadway, forming a passage through which the hearse with its attendants passed at once to the wharf, stopping directly beside the tug Nina. As the casket was placed aboard the tug, the Scandinavian societies again lifted their voices in one of the sonorous but mournful chants of their race. The Nina, preceded by the steam launches of the fleet in double column, and followed by the Catalpa with the invited guests on board, and the pulling boats, also in double column, then moved gently away from the pier, taking her course straight for Baltimore. As the tug left the wharf the colors of the squadron were half-masted and the monitor Nantucket discharged the first minute gun from her improved battery of howitzers. She continued to so discharge her ordnance at the regular intervals until the body of the great inventor had been placed upon the Baltimore.

THE VOYAGE BEGINS.

The clouds of the morning had cleared away and the sun now shone brightly upon the bay, making the funeral procession a most brilliant one and a scene long to be remembered. After the formal presentation of the body to the Government through Capt. Schley of the Baltimore by the executors of the Ericcson estate, to which the Captain briefly responded, the decks were cleared of guests and visitors and the vessel started on her voyage, moving very slowly down the bay. As she passed each war vessel in the long line its batteries belched forth the national salute of twenty-one guns, while the colors remained half masted with the Swedish ensign displayed. During the ceremonies the harbor and bay were crowded with steamers, tugs and boats of all descriptions, filled with spectators, who were full of admiration of the imposing display made by the white squadron. Forty-five minutes after passing the last saluting vessel, the steel prow of the Baltimore was driving through the bay, near the horizon, and within a short time thereafter her long, slim, white hull suddenly shot out of sight in the distance.

GEORGE PARTRIDGE.

A Sketch of a Man Whose Name Is Interwoven in the History of Many Institutions.

[Written for the POST-DISPATCH.]

Since the death of Hon. George Partridge, July 12, I had hoped and expected that some friend, having a more intimate knowledge and an abler pen, would prepare a worthy testimonial to the memory of one who, for half a century, had been a resident of St. Louis and in earlier days had exerted a powerful influence in initiating, molding and conducting most of its public enterprises; but no such chronicler having appeared, now in the endeavor to discharge a debt of friendship, I submit this tribute, it being a brief enumeration of some of his more conspicuous acts; preferring to let his actions speak—converting deeds into monuments—rather than to indulge in pretentious eulogy.

Mr. Partridge was born March 27, 1809, in Walpole, Mass.; spent his boyhood and youth in Templeton, his parents early having removed thither; when a young man engaged as a clerk in a mercantile house in Boston; soon after established one of like character on his own account; later removed to Burlington, Io., pursuing the same business, and in 1847 removed to St. Louis, and soon after became associated with Messrs. James and William Smith, the style of the firm being Partridge & Co. Prosperity attended this relation, and this triumvirate thenceforward rapidly accumulated those resources which, by the alchemy of an innate public spirit and a broad humanity, were soon to be transmuted into institutions of religion, charity and learning. Having enjoyed the ministrations of Rev. Dr. Channing, in Boston, he naturally gravitated to the Unitarian Church in St. Louis, thoroughly identified himself with all its interests and activities, especially the "Boys' Industrial School," later the "Mission House." The erection of its present commodious edifice is chiefly due to his liberality, and in its Sabbath School he continued a faithful teacher so long as his health permitted.

Mr. Partridge was a zealous advocate of temperance, also an ardent friend of the "News Boys' Home." Indeed there was scarcely any institution of a charitable, educational or commercial character, that during the active period of his life, was not promoted and sustained by his means and his counsels.

For many years Mr. Partridge was an influential member of the Public School Board; his enlightened views and earnest efforts contributed much to popularize the system then adopted, hastened the erection of enlarged and improved school buildings, and in 1857 secured the erection of the High School Building. The writer well remembers the enthusiasm and satisfaction with which in 1858 he conducted him through its numerous rooms, indicating the number and excellence of its appointments and designating this as the coronal achievement of the board.

HIS GIFTS.

Though numerous his gifts and varied their objects, Washington University was the chief recipient of his princely benefactions. The contemporaneous existence of a coterie of gentlemen, possessed of large means, and animated by a common spirit, rendered the creation of this institution possible. Of the various departments embraced by it, the interest and pride of Mr. Partridge were concentrated upon Mary Institute; though to furnish the facilities of higher education to the youth of both sexes was a great desire of his life. For this end he pondered, planned and donated with a liberal hand.

Mr. Partridge was rarely an aspirant for political honors, but when they sought him and were imposed, he bore them with becoming dignity and discharged the duties involved with marked fidelity. His steadfast integrity and well-known views secured his election as Representative of the memorable session of the Legislature in 1860 and 1861, at that crisis, when the status of the State, then in the scales nearly equipoised, was to to be decided. In his letter to me from Jefferson City, January 13, 1861, now before me, he wrote, "I know not what may be the result, but my harness is fairly on to save my country so far as I can exert an influence." It is believed that this resolution fearlessly carried out, in its consequences, availed much in preventing the secession of the State.

The high social position and inflexible integrity of Mr. Partridge commended him as a worthy member of the "Western Sanitary Commission." An exhaustive narrative of the labors of this unique band of "nobiles fratres," of whom the President, Hon. James E. Yeatman was "princeps in aequales," can never be written; but their names will ever illuminate and adorn the historic page of that period.

HIS BUSINESS CAREER.

In 1863 Mr. Partridge was elected President of the St. Louis Merchants' Exchange.

In 1887 he retired from active business, but not from his career of habitual usefulness, consenting to become President of the St. Louis Provident Association, a position full of labor and responsibility without commensurate honor and totally without remuneration.

The partners of his life not only cordially and efficiently sustained Mr. Partridge in his philanthropic schemes, but they, too, labored, planned and achieved in other and distinct departments of beneficence. To his first wife is largely due the existence of the Old Ladies' Home. To this most excellent institution her labors, large and timely gifts were continued till, in the midst of her labors and usefulness, she was, in 1856, suddenly called to her "rest."

His second wife rendered efficient aid in carrying the "Young Women's Christian Home" through its early struggles to its present prosperous condition. But to the establishment of the "Memorial Home" she specially consecrated her efforts and benefactions till in 1886 she obeyed the summons: "Come up higher." Thus these three benefactors lived, labored and builded; the one fostering institutions for the young, full of hope in their prime; the others, institutions for the aged, full of hope in their decline. Thus will they remain eloquent and enduring monuments to the memory of each.

"Inasmuch as ye did it to the least of these my brethren ye did it unto Me." D.

POOR MAY WALKER.

The Erring Girl's Funeral—Coleman Will Not Be Prosecuted.

The funeral of Carrie May Walker, who died Thursday from the effects of poison taken with suicidal intent, took place this afternoon from the house at 2004 Franklin avenue.

The story has been exhaustively reviewed in the papers. The girl was working in a restaurant and her pretty face attracted the attention of James Coleman, who is employed in a printing office in that vicinity. He overcame her scruples, and she fell, as many an unfortunate girl has done before. She returned home and, overcome by her shame, took the poison resulting in her death.

Coleman, while not denying the charge of her ruin, expresses the greatest contrition and sorrow. He claims that he had agreed to marry her, and that the ceremony was to have been performed Saturday night. He says he made an appointment with her for the evening, and he was on the spot designated at the time agreed upon. He says she probably came late, and not finding him there supposed him to be false, and so determined to end her life. He expressed a desire to see her before burial, but said he was afraid to go to the house. He went to work this morning, but was very much "broken up" over the affair.

The parents will probably not prosecute Coleman, although they lay on him the blame of being the cause of their daughter's death.

The scene at the house this afternoon was a pathetic one. Friends and relatives had called to take a last look at the dead girl, and the expressions of grief and sorrow were many.

Placed in the Mission Home.

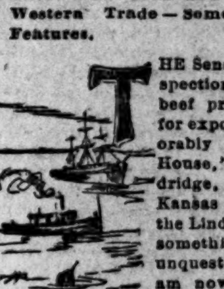

Mamie Courts, the alleged victim of the waiter, Ed Barton, who was arrested Wednesday on a charge of enticing away a girl under age for immoral purposes, was yesterday placed in the Institutional Mission, where she will remain until she has to appear against Barton. Her little sister was sent to the Messiah Mission Home, Ninth and Wash streets.

AN OBNOXIOUS BILL.

WESTERN SHIPPERS TO OPPOSE THE BEEF INSPECTION ACT.

A Delegation on Its Way to Washington to Fight the Senate Bill—An Act Drawn to Favor New York and to Cut Off the Western Trade—Some Objectionable Features.

THE Senate bill for the inspection of live cattle and beef products intended for export has been favorably reported to the House," said S. L. Eldridge, a large shipper of Kansas City, who is at the Lindell, "and unless something is done it will unquestionably pass. I am now on my way to Washington to appear before the House Committee and oppose the bill. I shall meet at that city representatives of Chicago, Omaha, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Louisville, Nashville and a number of other smaller points, and a strong delegation from Louisiana will start in a day or two.

NOT OPPOSED TO INSPECTION.

"The feeling throughout the West among those who have at all carefully studied the provisions of the bill is strongly against its passage in the present form. It should not be understood that the shippers and breeders are opposed to government inspection of cattle intended for export, for the exact contrary is the case. We all recognize the fact that foreign governments, especially those of Germany, France and England, are very anxious to keep our meat products out of their markets. Our wheat has driven the European farmer to the wall, and an immense number of wheat fields have been turned into pastures. Already our beef has caused the margin of profit on live stock to fall to a very low point, and if the stockmen of this country set seriously about the export business, this also will disappear. Hitherto we have labored under very considerable disadvantages as to transportation. There are only a few ships that sail from American ports that are adapted to carrying cattle, and still fewer that can carry dressed beef. The supply has therefore nearly always been less than the demand, and shipments have not amounted to one-third of what they would have, had we been at any time able to secure vessels to carry our beef. But this could be easily remedied, and would be at once if we were certain of being allowed to sell our meat when it arrives on the other side of the ocean.

THE DISEASED BEEF SCARE.

"The stock raisers of Europe are terrified at the inroads that American beef has made upon their business, have raised the cry of diseased meat against us, and thereby secured the passage of very strict and oppressive inspection laws. One argument that has been employed with great effect is that there is no goverment inspection in this country and that therefore it is necessary to supply the deficiency on the other side. All shippers are not only willing, but anxious, that this argument should be rendered worthless, and are heartily in favor of government inspection. But the breeders and shippers of the cattle-raising states fail to see the necessity of throwing the whole shipping business into the hands of New York. The bill in its present form is very ingeniously drawn to accomplish this end. It provides for Government inspection, which none are opposed to, but also provides that the inspectors shall be stationed at New York. That simply means that all exporters from Western points may as well go out of the business, for they will have nothing to do, not a herd of stock can be sent direct from St. Louis, Kansas City, or any other interior point, as no Government Inspector will be located there, but everything must go to New York.

A NEW YORK PLOT.

The dressed beef men are heartily in favor of the move, as it will tend to prevent the building up of markets other than those now in existence, and thus help them to retain the hold that they now have, and to keep the breeders down. What we want is to have inspectors stationed at all shipping points, where they can pass upon cattle that are intended to be sent abroad, and allow all parts of the country an equal advantage. As it is now, everything will have to go through New York, and the interior points, located near the cattle-raising centers, have no show at all. The addition of a few inspectors will make the bill satisfactory. Another very oppressive feature is the requirement that all dressed beef shall be stored sixty days before it is shipped. This means that it must be stored in New York, and is in the interest of the New York exporters and the dressed-beef combine. They have cold-storage houses in New York but the smaller exporters have not, and will, therefore, be at their mercy. What we ask is only fair treatment, and every farmer west of the Alleghenies is interested in seeing that we obtain it."

PEDDLING WHISKEY.

A Small Distiller From Bollinger County Under Arrest.

Frank Albright of Castor Post-office, Bollinger County, Mo., was before United States Commissioner Crawford this morning. Albright is a distiller on a small scale and has a license to sell the product of his distillery at retail in Bollinger County. Some days ago John M. Moore was arrested in Grandin, Carter County, where he was retailing whisky to the inhabitants. Moore had not paid the special tax which United States statutes impose as a condition precedent to engaging in the sale of liquor, but he claimed that he was acting as the agent of Albright. He had obtained two barrels of whisky from Albright, for which he had orders, and was when arrested delivering the second barrel. His price was $2.25 per gallon.

Albright to-day repudiated Moore. He said that he had sold the whisky to Moore at the distillery at $1.50 per gallon, $50 being paid down on the first barrel, the balance when the whisky was sold, and $35 being paid down on the second barrel. Whatever Moore got over $1.50 per gallon, Albright said, he did not share.

Moore on being sworn reiterated his claim that he had been acting as Albright's agent and said that he had paid nothing for the whisky until after the first barrel was sold when he turned over to Albright the entire proceeds. Both men were held for the November term of the District Court.

DOWN ON DACEY.

Commission Men Claim He Abuses His Position as Market Master.

The war against Patrick Dacey, which has been waged for a number of years by a number of market men, has been renewed. They claim that he is violating the city ordinances by being in the commission business and that he has a corner on green tomatoes.

Mr. Dacey explains as follows:

"I have my office in the store, No. 1204 North Third street, because the old market is closed. I formerly had my office in there, but I had to move when it was closed. I don't have to pay rent here because my sons run a business here, but I am no more interested in it, financially, than you are. I have no connection with the place, do not buy or sell anything, and am violating no ordinance. The fight being made on me now is merely a renewal of the persecutions of a certain crowd which has been bothering me for a long time."

Presentation of an Easy Chair.

A serenade was given James Sweeney, clerk at Station C. of the postoffice, formerly Station A, last evening, at his home on Compton and Easton avenues. He was presented with a rocking chair by the officers and carriers of Station A. Peter Gundlack, superintendent of Station A, made the presentation speech. Mr. Sweeney being taken by surprise could not find words to express himself. Ed. Fox, superintendent of Station C, answered in his behalf. Others who were present were: Local Inspector [illegible], Dick Johnson, superintendent of Station B, [illegible] and other friends.

WHO WILL BE NEXT?

MAJ. MURPHY NOW OUT OF THE STREET COMMISSIONER RACE.

How the Thing Was Worked in the Council Last Night—Mr. Sloan an Emergency Man for Mayor Noonan—The Four Courts Threatened—Work-House Stories—Municipal Matters.

"Who will be the next?" "What will the Mayor do now?" and a thousand similar speculations are rife among the politicians and city officials.

The rather wild and untamed action of the Council and the headlong haste of Mr. Sloan to grab the Mayor's chestnut from the fire make an interesting chapter in the Street Commissioner fight. The first move made was unexpected and the subsequent ones more so. The name of Maj. Murphy, the present Harbor and Wharf Commissioner, nomination No. 6 for Street Commissioner, was in the hands of the Committee on Public Improvements. He was considered the strongest candidate of the lot, and the hope was that he would be let alone until there was a full Council, and he might be given a fair show to get through. Last night the Public Improvements Committee, Mr. Vogel, Chairman, who, according to his own statements, is "no kid," reported the nomination back to the Council without recommendation. This in itself was rather strange. Then Mr. Horton, a member of the committee, made a motion to lay the consideration over until the first meeting in November, or, in other words, hold action in suspense until the full Council met again after the contemplated recess. This would have checkmated the Mayor had not the withdrawal route been left open. Mr. Sloan, who is the Mayor's "wire" and who carries a pocketful of emergency documents, objected to this and tried two or three amendments, with the intention of postponing consideration only a short time. All of Mr. Sloan's amendments failed and Mr. Horton's resolution carried. Mr. Sloan got rattled and pulled a bunch of documents in type-writing from his pocket and galloping up to the Secretary's desk hastily asked that one of them be dated. The date August 22 was put at the top in the blank space left for it, and the paper read. It was a communication from the Mayor withdrawing Maj. Murphy's nomination. The Council ordered the communication filed under the impression that the withdrawal could be ignored. And filed it was. But it had been read, and the deed was done and now His Honor has the drop on the honorable Council. He can send in a new name which will carry him within ten days of adjournment. Then it will be either withdrawn or rejected, and the field will again be clear for a nominee who can be put into office to serve until his successor is qualified.

Who the next victim will be remains to be seen. The Mayor maintains a clam like silence. Maybe Mr. Sloan has the next name in his pocket. Maybe he has not. In any event the Mayor is watching things closely, and will play the right card at the right time if the right can be judged from his standpoint.

May Freeze to Death.

President Burnet of the Board of Public Improvements is a very kind hearted man and this morning expressed his sorrow for impending sufferings of the Four Courts officials because of the carelessness of the Municipal Assembly. Some time ago some radical changes were made in the arrangement of the offices, partitions and rooms. The changes made it necessary to take out all of the steam fitting from the office and court-room portion of the building. The general appropriation set aside about $6,000 for refitting the building with steam apparatus. The board sent in the proper ordinance authorizing them to let the contracts under the usual bidding system. That far all was well. But the ordinance was tossed about in the Assembly, and so far the board has not heard from it. After it is passed and signed it will take two weeks for the advertising, another week for the filing of bonds and so on and there about two months more to do the work properly if all goes well. The Four Courts gang may be frozen stiff by the time the work is done and they may be left all winter without any heat at all should the Assembly take a notion to quit work until September. President Burnet suggests that they make arrangements with long term prisoners to share cells in the only heated portion of the building.

Thrilling Adventures.

Jack Stansberry, the Deputy Superintendent of the Work-house, comes up to town every Saturday with requisitions and reports. He was asked this morning how it happened that a prisoner succeeded in escaping last week under the eyes of the guards. Mr. Stansberry said that it was very simple because they did not have enough guards and if a man watched his chances he could slip out over the railroad from the quarry very easily, especially if he had served a long time and was given a little more liberty than the rest.

"But that's nothing," continued the Deputy, "we had eight of them try to escape, and two did get away for a time, but were recaptured. They cut the bars out of the cell and were well started before they were caught. There are lots of things happening there that we don't want to bother the board with. For example, we have a tough nigger in the bull-pen. Now, a day or so ago he cut a gash a foot long in another nigger's back, with a knife made from the steel out of an old shoe. The fellow who did the cutting is one of Tom Goabnt's crowd and an aw ful hard case; we don't think it necessary to report those cases as we can handle them ourselves."

The New Supervisor.

Andrew J. O'Reilly came before City Register Wherry this morning and took his oath of office as City Supervisor of Lighting, his bond having been approved last night by the Council. He will have several large jobs of work on his hands which were left half finished by Mr. Matlack. Among them will be a matter which the Missouri Electric Light & Power Co. has been worrying over for some time. Under their contract they were to furnish first and second-class lights, the first-class to be in circuit continually, and the second-class to be used only a part of the day or night as the case might be. Mr. Matlack never classified the lights and would only sign vouchers for the specified number of each kind while he compelled the company to keep them all on the first-class circuits. The company kicked mildly once or twice and finally gave it up. Now they propose to either have the lights classified or be paid first-class prices for all their lights.

Mr. O'Reilly was duly installed by President Burnet and went to work clearing up the office and getting his bearings.

A Tale of Woe.

Jim Hardy, City Collector of Slops, has a hard-luck story he is pouring into the ears of all who will listen to his tale of woe. "Watermelons till you can't rest," says Jim. "Them people up on O'Fallon street and Biddle street and down by Spruce street don't live on nawthing else. They buy them watermelons at two for a nickle and eat 'em all day. My drivers make two trips a day and can't get them away fast enough. There ain't enough slops there to keep a hog alive, but the watermelons is awful."

Mr. Hardy asserts that this season is the biggest watermelon season he has ever seen and does not know where it will stop, as the price of melons continues to drop lower every day.

FINED THEM ALL ROUND.

Prosaic Sequel to a Family Row and General Rough and Tumble.

Hatchets, axes, bricks, broomsticks and brawny fists figured very prominently in a case tried before Justice Ryan this morning. It was one of those neighborhood rows so frequent in thickly settled tenement districts in which every body takes part and keep the battle up all day, and where such things as buckets, tubs and pieces of coal fall, apparantly by accident, on disagreeable tenants below. The parties in the case were Edward Kehoe, family and friends, and Julius Neuman, family and friends. Kehoe is of Irish tendencies and Neuman is German. The scene of action is laid in the court of 2827 Rutger street. Kehoe and family, consisting of his wife and several small children in the front, and Newman with his wife and small children live in the rear. The children play together in the court-yard. A few days ago young Kehoe, not quite 3 years old, tried to clean the yard with the person of a young Neuman about his own age. Mrs. Neuman saw the gladiatorial contest going on from her window and went to the scene, at the same time sending the Kehoe child to his mother with a

STINGING SENSATION ON THE CHEEKS.

The families were never on the best of terms and when Mrs. Kehoe saw her offspring attacked she went out to resent it. While they were arguing the matter in loud tones before a good-sized audience leaning from windows and balconies the head of the two houses put in an appearance. Mr. Neuman, of course, sided with his wife, and said something about Kehoe's character, whereupon Kehoe landed his right on Neuman's nose. The blow turned Neuman around and Kehoe saw an opportunity to kick Newman about six inches below his rear suspender button, which he took advantage of with great vigor. Newman ran into the house and brought out an ax, but before he reached Kehoe Mrs. Neuman was upon him with a broom and broke the stick over his arm and head. A younger Neuman, about 15 years of age, found a brick, which he hurled at Kehoe and struck him on the heel, crippling him. Mrs. Kehoe disappeared for a moment about this juncture, but reappeared immediately with

A HATCHET AND BROOM.

The hatchet she gave to her husband and with the broom she drove Mrs. Neuman and her son into the house. Neuman with the axe and Kehoe with the hatchet walked about for a while, glaring at each other, but neither daring to make the attack. Friends stepped in and prevented the men coming together, which, if it had occurred, might have resulted fatally.

Mr. Neuman entered suit against Kehoe in Justice Ryan's Court for assault and battery and Kehoe filed counter charges. The principals were put on the stand this morning and after hearing their story Justice Ryan decided that both parties were to blame and fined Kehoe $6, Mr. Neuman $5 and Mrs. Neuman $5. This was the only way he saw out of the difficulty and so administered the law.

TWO CARS OF POSTAL CARDS.

A Big Stock Received by the St. Louis Sub-Agency.

Nine million, five hundred thousand postal cards have been received at the Postal Card Sub-Agency in this city. This immense number filled two postal cars and occupies much of the sub-agency's floor space in the basement of the Custom-house. John H. Cookson, superintendent of the registry division, who in the absence of Supt. Dunne of the sub-agency has charge, turned over to Cashier Hays of the St. Louis office 800,000 cards in the original packages. This is about a month's supply for St. Louis. The sub-agency distributes the cards on orders received from Washington, to which point the postmasters send their requisitions. Packages of 500, 1,000, 5,000, 10,000 and 25,000 are made up by the clerk in charge and shipped in postal cars in the mails on orders from Washington. The postmaster on receipt of the package acknowledges it on a form, which he sends to Washington, and on a card which he sends to the sub-agency. On the arrival of his card receipt the shipping book is checked and the card is filed. The system of checks is as thorough and is as carefully followed as the checks on valuable packages in the registered mail division, as Postmaster Harlow is responsible for every card.

ASSAULTED HIS LANDLADY.

Otto Schmidt Beats Mrs. Pauline Neidman for Testifying Against Him.

About 5 o'clock this morning Otto Schmidt kicked in the door at the room of Pauline Neidman, 215 Market street, and threatened the woman's life. Officer Bock heard the disturbance and arrested Schmidt, who was sent into the First District Police Court at 9 o'clock, charged with disturbing the peace. He proved, however, that he had been boarding with the woman some time before and had been put out of his room. He was discharged. Hardly had the prosecuting witness stepped out on the street, however, before Schmidt was upon her, beating her in the face and cursing her roundly. Officer Bock was again on hand and Schmidt spent the day in the holdover. He will be sent into the Police Court again to-morrow morning.

MASTERLY INACTIVITY.

HOW INDIAN TERRITORY CATTLEMEN WILL OPPOSE THE ORDER OF EXPULSION.

Another Appeal to Be Made for an Extension of Time—Why the Indian Territory Cattle Cannot Be Sold—A Plan for Defeating the Execution of the Order.

THE approach of the time for the cattlemen to vacate the Indian Territory finds us in an advanced stage of unreadiness," said S. L. Andrews of Vinita, I. T., who is at the Southern. "Appeals have been made to Washington for an extension of time and for a while we thought they would be granted, but from dispatches received yesterday it seems that we were mistaken and that no modification will be made. We are going to make one more attempt, as it is evident from the arguments advanced by the Indian Department against granting what we ask that the case is by no means thoroughly understood.

A FAULTY ARGUMENT.

"The argument is advanced that we had notice of what was going to be done last winter, and could have disposed of our cattle from time to time. We had such an opportunity of so doing as would have been granted to a farmer by telling him that he could sell everything that he could raise between September and April, but that he would have to lose his land at the latter period. We can sell cattle in winter just about as well as a farmer can sell wheat and corn. If we have stock on hand that could have been marketed during the summer and fall, it can be disposed of in winter, but the growing crop is practically worthless. Immature and thin cattle cannot be marketed, but they can be sacrificed, and to do this was the only choice given us. If ever men loyally endeavored to carry out the orders of the Government, the Indian Territory cattlemen did. We sent our stock to market the moment that it was anything like ready, and did everything we could to get out. Under the best conditions it would have involved serious loss, but the conditions were about as bad as they could be.

EFFECTS OF A DRY SEASON.

"As everyone knows, the summer has been remarkably dry, the grass unusually short, and in many places the streams have dried up. The effect of this has been to prevent thousands of cattle from ripening that otherwise would have done so. The ranges carry as many head as they will bear, not a few being seriously overcrowded. With the grazing ground contiguous to the smaller streams available, most of the cattle could have been fairly fitted to market. But these ran dry and the grass in their vicinity was unavailable, as stock cannot go very far from water. This threw an unusual and unlooked for pressure on the grass near the streams that still carried water. Even if it had been in good condition it is doubtful if the supply would have equaled the demand, but the drouth had greatly injured it, and the stock has not been able to pick up more than the poorest living. The consequence is, that cattle that would in ordinary seasons be in fine flesh are not much more than skin and bones, and would scarcely bring the cost of freight. To be told that we ought to have sold them last winter or this spring is very much like adding insult to injury and has exasperated not a few of the ranchmen.

PASSIVE RESISTANCE.

"We shall make one more effort, not to secure an abrogation of the order, but to receive assurances that it will not be strictly enforced, and if this is denied some will pursue a course which they believe will materially aid them. There is in no part of the territory the smallest disposition to hamper or impede the Government in the execution of the order, but not a few are determined to offer a passive resistance which, under the circumstances, can hardly fail to prove effective. The cattle owners will simply remain quiet, and allow the Government to carry out its own order. This will be far more difficult than those unacquainted with the situation imagine. Hitherto the cattlemen have been hurrying their stock out of the Cherokee Strip as fast as possible, but it is more than doubtful whether this policy will be continued. When Government agents appear they will be informed that the owners have no place to which the stock can be removed, and if the Government insists upon it its agents can remove the cattle themselves. What they will do then remains to be seen. There is no vacant land available to which the cattle can be driven, and they cannot be expelled from the Cherokee country without encroaching upon the pastures of others, who will themselves object to any such proceeding. The Government can hardly undertake to hire cars, send the cattle to market, sell them and account for the proceeds, and the only alternative left will be to allow them to remain or to shoot them down. If the case is carried into the courts delay will be secured, which is all that we ask. The Interior Department officials should not forget that we possess a very strong means of defense if we are driven to adopt it, and should be ready to grant our reasonable requests."

OCEAN RACERS.

The City of New York Leads the Teutonic in the Transatlantic Contest.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—News of the transatlantic tussle between the steamship City of New York of the Inman Line and the Teutonic of the White Star Line reached this port yesterday on three ocean crossing craft. The Normandia of the Hamburg-American Line was the last of the incoming trio to see the racers. They were then over twelve miles apart, the City of New York leading. The Teutonic was directly astern of the Inman ship and both were apparently using all the steam they were capable of making. The City of Berlin of the Inman Line passed the City of New York at 6:43 o'clock on Thursday morning and about twenty and a half hours (actual time) after she passed the Sandy Hook light ship. The City of Berlin was then 372 miles from the light ship. The City of New York was going at the rate of 18½ knots an hour. Nineteen minutes later, or 368 miles east of the light ship, the City of Berlin met the Teutonic. The racers were then about eleven miles apart. The Britannic of the White Star Line also passed them. When the Normandia spoke the City of New York she was 385 miles from Sandy Hook. It was then five minutes of eight. At 8:30 the Normandia passed the Teutonic, over twelve miles astern. As there was only twenty minutes, or about six miles, difference between the racers when they were timed off the Sandy Hook light-ship on Wednesday morning the City of New York had gained about twenty minutes on her White Star competitor when the Normandia passed her. The Trave passed the Teutonic at noon on Thursday but saw nothing of the City of New York. The Normandia made a very quick voyage from Southampton, coming within an hour of the record from that point, held by the Columbia. She took a northerly course and averaged 18.91 knots an hour. Her time was 6 days, 16 hours and 55 minutes, equal to a little more than a run of six days from Queenstown. But for high head winds and tumultuous seas she probably would have broken the record. She passed one big iceberg and several small ones off the banks. Her daily runs were 883, 458, 480, 478, 486, 462 and 300 miles. She brought 1,092 passengers, 420 of whom came in the cabin.

An Indian Outlaw.

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 23.—There was a large assemblage of people at Lumberton yesterday to see Steve Jacob, the noted outlaw, who, heavily ironed, was taken there from Jessup, Ga., where he was recaptured a few days ago. Jacobs is a Croatian Indian of the most bloodthirsty and revengeful nature. He brutally murdered Mrs. Earp, an aged white woman, in Robinson County a year ago. He escaped and was recaptured, tried, convicted of murder and sentenced to death. He appealed to the Supreme Court, which affirmed the judgment. The Judge then issued his death warrant, but ten days before the date fixed for the execution Jacobs escaped from jail. He lived in the swamps but at times appeared in the public roads, both in South and North Carolina. He threatened many persons with death and was feared by everybody. A big reward was offered for his capture and he fled into Georgia. His uncle, Purdy Jacob, is also lying in jail under sentence of death for the murder of Mrs. Earp, who was assassinated in her own house.

ATTACKING WICKED CHICAGO.

The India Detachment of the Salvation Army Nightly Assaulting That City.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 23.—The Salvation Army has attacked this citadel of sin, lead by Marshal Ballington Booth and his detachment from India. The attractive figure in the delegation is Lord Ranta Pala of Ceylon, now one of the most active members of the army.

At the age of 12 years he was given to the priesthood by his parents, and at 14 he was ordained and accepted into the faith. For eight years following he submitted to the teachings of the priest above him, delving into the mysteries of the dead languages of Ceylon, mastering Sanscrit and Pali and Elu, the latter two the provincial tongues of the island; learning by heart the precepts of Buddha; storing up the things which gave him his position and title of lord in the great system of caste. One day he ran across a copy of the War Cry of the Salvation Army. He had it translated for him and cast it away as useless—it was out of the line of his belief. Direct appeals to him by the native officers of the army were unavailing; his duty was to his own religion. But one day he came across two salvation army soldiers with begging vessels in their hands, asking coin for their support. He stopped and looked long at them. He, too, depended for his support on the generosity of those to whom he appealed for aid. He had never seen any but priests beg before. Here was a bond of sympathy. He approached, talked to the officers, and went with them to their quarters, where he visited often afterward, and was finally converted.

THE LITTLE LORD.

Personally the lord is a jolly little fellow. He talks English until his supply of words and phrases runs out, which isn't long—for he has been with us only a few months—and then falls back on Sanscrit or Ceylonese. He is of small stature, a trifle over five feet in height, perhaps, with the narrow, sloping shoulders of a woman and eyes that shine like polished ebony. Short, silky, black hair falls just below the edge of a red turban perched jauntily on his head, and just touches the neck-band of the flaming red salvation-army jacket, which joins the striped calico shirt which he wears. Black sandals on stockingless feet complete the toilet, which is very picturesque, and lighted up the dim and dingy streets like a ray of sunlight.

Capt. Jai Singh, who has been in India for the last five years in the service of the religious army, is the spokesman of the party. He is an Englishman and accounts for his presence in the army as follows:

"I was converted in Manchester, England," he explains, "where I married my wife, Nurjahan, who is with me now. We went to India, and have been there five years. Translated into English, Jai Singh means 'Lion of Victory,' and Nurjahan, 'Light of the World.' Back in Manchester they used to call us Jackson. Ranta Pala means 'Gem of Beauty,' and doesn't the name fit the little lord?"

With him is Capt. Kantahella, one of the common people of Ceylon. The Captain has been for three years in the service of the Salvation Army, and speaks English with great fluency.

The army is holding nightly meetings, opening the attack in this wicked city at the First Methodist Church, where an admission fee is charged of 10 cents to the gallery and 15 cents to the main body of the church.

Coopershops Burned—Fraternal Guardians—Street Railway—Notes.

A fire broke out about 2 o'clock this morning in the steam coopershop on Second and Spring streets, owned by Henry Scherperkotter of St. Louis. The machine shops and two large kilns full of staves were completely destroyed. The Fire Department, by prompt response to the alarm and effective service, saved the large warehouses, where over five thousand barrels were stored. Had these houses burned the fire would have spread much further. These shops furnish all the flour barrels for the Stanard Milling Co. in this city. As there is a large stock on hand, the mills will not be delayed for want of barrels. This is the second time that these shops have been burned within two years. The fact that the fire started in the machine-shop, where there were no combustibles, leads to the suspicion that it was an incendiary. The damage will amount to several thousand dollars, but is fully covered by insurance.

The Illinois Lodge of the Order of Fraternal Guardians was instituted Thursday night at the Odd Fellows' Hall by Supreme Organizing Director Albert S. Halsler of Philadelphia. The lodge starts out with thirty charter members.

Thursday evening one of the horses drawing the 7 o'clock car on the Alton & Upper Alton Street Railway stepped on a loose cobblestone in the track and broke its leg. The poor beast was shot and thus relieved from misery.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Rachael M. Bailey took place at 10 o'clock yesterday morning from the family residence on Henry street.

Mrs. Lulu Webb has instituted suit for a divorce from her husband in the Alton City Court. After two months of married life she charges her husband with infidelity.

The trial of Henry Fisher of North Alton, charged with shooting with intent to kill Lotty Jiles, took place before 'Squire Quarton yesterday afternoon and resulted in the acquittal of the plaintiff.

The citizens interested in the construction of the North Alton street railway held a meeting last night and decided to go ahead and make arrangements to build at once.

Miss Lulu Svehtleben left yesterday for a visit to her sister, Mrs. Jennie Wilkinson, at Dallas, Tex.

Misses Mollie and Katie Ryan of St. Louis are the guests of Miss Barbara Blake on Prospect street.

Mrs. Geo. K. Hopkins and daughter, Miss May, have returned from their summer vacation at the Minnesota lakes.

IN DOUBT ABOUT HIS NAME.

The Story Told by a Lad Who Was Picked Up in a Cat-Boat.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—While John Thomas, watchman, was patroling Black Tower, the Standard Oil Co. island in the bay, at 1 o'clock Thursday morning, he saw a black looking craft moving in the water. He ventured out and pulled ashore the craft, which proved to be a cat-boat eighteen feet long. It was occupied by a boy wearing a gray blouse and knee breeches. When taken ashore the boy told him very conflicting stories. None of them gave a correct explanation of the cause of his eventful cruise. At the Jersey City police headquarters, to which he was taken, he said: "My name is Dickie—Dickie Stezel, or Vogel, or Fisher, I can't tell which, cause I had two fadders and two mudders. Ye see, my own fadder was Fisher, and he's dead. Den my mudder got Mr. Vogel, and she died. Den Vogel got me a new mudder. Den he died. Den she got Stetzel, so I don't know what my name is. I was born at Stettin, in Germany, and came to 'Merika a year and a half ago. We lived in Thirteenth street, but moved to New Brighton; so, two weeks ago, I was goin' on a cruise to New York to see some boys. I shipped on my fadder's Capt. Kidd, 9 o'clock in de evenin', but she lost her rudder and I drifted. First I went clear way out in the ocean, and thought I was a goner. Then de wind shifted and blew me in. I rigged up a kind of sail outen an oar and a piece of canvas and pretty soon I got on a bank off that Black Tom. I knew I was safe, then, an' I went to sleep. That's all they is about it."

He was taken to the West Brighton Police Station and held until his parents can be found. Several people have been notified.

DOINGS IN THE COURTS.

TWO $10,000 DAMAGE SUITS FOR THE LOSS OF HAND AND FOOT.

Theodore Appelhause Loses His Foot Under a Street Car and Charles Broden Loses His Hand in a Boiling Machine—The Hake Divorce Suit Abated—An Aged Couple in Court—Other Divorce Suits.

June 15 last was an eventful day for Theodore Appelhause, who was granted permission to sue the Southern Railway Co. as a poor person this morning for $10,075 damages. On the day named he got on a South St. Louis car bound south. The company was putting in the electric line at the time and the roadbed was badly torn up. The car left the track on the way down and the driver requested the passengers to get off and help place the car on the track again. Appelhause very kindly tendered his services, and after righting the car he tried to regain his seat, but it was taken and the car was so crowded he was compelled to hang on to the front platform and step. The driver gave the reins to a passenger and went in to collect fares. While he was away Appelhause requested the passenger driving to stop the car at Stein street, but he did not. When Stein street was reached the car jolted and threw Appelhouse off. He fell under the wheels and his left foot was cut off at the instep. His left hip and his back were badly bruised, causing him great pain, loss of time and doctor's bills. He wants $10,000 for his injuries and $75 to pay his doctor's bills.

Charles Broden filed a $10,000 damage suit against the Cass Avenue Distilling Co. this morning for the loss of his right hand. Broden says that he was feeding grain to a grinding machine in the distillery September 23, and by reason of the defective machinery, loose belting and shaky feeder, his hand was caught in the rollers and mashed. It was amputated at the wrist.

Hake's Divorce Suit Abated.

The last chapter in the life of Edward Hake, who killed his wife, Lulu, and then shot himself last Monday, was ended in the Circuit Court this morning. It is seldom an entry is made on the Court records of the death of both parties to a suit, and the entry so made in the Hake divorce suit this morning is the first for many years. Hake, it is said, married against his parents' wishes, and after defaulting in the sum of $4,000, it is said, his father threatened to prosecute him as a criminal if he did not secure a divorce from his wife. Against his conscience young Hake filed the suit and said he was married in November, 1885 and lived with his wife until August 1, 1890. He charged her with drunkenness, failure to prepare his meals, neglecting the household and remaining out at night and getting drunk. His father, William Hake, gave security for costs in the case, and it was abated this morning at his cost.

Mrs. Fredericka Link began a suit for divorce against her husband, John Link, this morning, in which she states that she was married in Harburg, Bavaria, April 30, 1867, and left her husband August 19 last, on account of his cruelty. She says he was always finding fault and would beat the children, abuse her for protecting them, threaten to take her life and last May beat her over the head with an iron bucket. Seven children were born of the marriage, two of whom are of age, and she asks the custody of the others. She also asks for alimony.

Louise Whelan sues John Whelan for divorce on the grounds of general indignities and asks the court to award her the custody of her two children. She was married in October, 1882, and left her husband in November, 1889.

An Aged Couple in Court.

Arguments on application for alimony in the divorce case of Joseph Longuevan against Martha Longuevan were made this morning before Judge Withrow. Mr. Longuevan is about 70 years of age and his wife about 50. They have been in trouble for seven years and he finally decided to dissolve partnership. He sued for divorce and she asked for alimony. Judge Withrow ordered the husband to pay $40 at once and $13 per month.

The Cook-Baldwin Troubles.

Harry Weldon, receiver of the effects of the partnership of George F. Cook and Samuel Baldwin, was ordered by Judge Withrow this morning to sell the personal property at 2746 Olive street at public sale to the highest bidder. The effects include the lease on the property, which is made in Baldwin's name and which, it is said, he tried to claim as private personal property.

Legal Notes.

Judge Withrow adjourned court this morning until August 28.

Judge Withrow granted the American Industrial Relief Association a pro forma decree of incorporation this morning.

Encouragement for the Feeble.

So long as the failing embers of vitality are capable of being rekindled into a warm and genial glow, just so long there is hope for the weak and emaciated invalid. Let him not therefore despond, but derive encouragement from this and from the further fact that there is a restorative most potent in renewing the dilapidated powers of a broken down system. Yes, thanks to its unexampled tonic virtues, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is daily reviving strength in the bodies and hope in the minds of the feeble and nervous. Appetite, refreshing sleep, the acquisition of flesh and color, are blessings attendant upon the reparative processes which this priceless invigorant speedily initiates and carries to a successful conclusion. Digestion is restored, the blood fertilized and sustenance afforded to each life-sustaining organ by the Bitters, which is inoffensive even to the feminine palate, vegetable in composition and thoroughly safe. Terrible Skin Disease

Head, Arms and Breast a Solid Scab. Cured by Cuticura Remedies for $3.75.

I used two bottles of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, three boxes of CUTICURA, and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and am cured of a terrible skin and scalp disease known as psoriasis. I had it for eight years. It would get better and worse at times. Sometimes my head would be a solid scab, and was at the time I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. My arms were covered with scabs from my elbows to the shoulders, my breast was almost one solid scab, and my back covered with sores varying in size from a penny to a dollar. I had doctored with all the best doctors with no relief, and used many different medicines without effect. My case was hereditary, and, I began to think, incurable, but it began to heal from the first application.

The Prairie Digs

Two years ago a form of skin disease was prevalent in this vicinity, and variously named "prairie digs," "scratches," etc., but was probably better named simple itch. From my own experience I can say that two bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, six boxes of CUTICURA and two cakes of CUTICURA SOAP effected a cure for a family of seven, and there has been no return of the disease. We have confidence in the remedies.

The Only McNichols' Offer

LOOK INTO IT NOW!

There is a time for all things,
Said Solomon of old,
A time to laugh, a time to weep,
A time to waste, a time to hold,
A time to dance, a time to sing,
A time to labor while we may,
And wise is he who uses well
His time ere it melts away.

In youth the years seem endless quite
With vistas stretching far and wide,
But ere we reap the smallest field
Some previous seeds have died.
'Tis wiser far to work and live
That every day records some deed,
Some duty done for those we love,
A present help in time of need.

Now Solomon was not the King
To do things half way in his realm.
He let his subjects near him know
That wisdom had the helm.
You may not ask a temple tall,
A palace gilded to the dome,
But you do want a refuge safe
That sweet abiding place called home.

Go now while chance befriend your wish,
Put all your savings in this bank.
Without a burden or a yoke
In life's great sea a solid plank,
Go tell McNichols your desires,
A home to live in like a man.
You'll not be happy till you do,
And trust in his installment plan.

There is no easier, cheaper way, and now is the proper time for this, while offices are low. Do not miss the chance for bargains at

HONEST PRIMARIES.

CHAIRMAN CARLISLE DISCUSSES THE MOVEMENT OF THE THURMAN CLUB.

Another Union Labor Convention Called by the Alldredge-Blake Faction to Be Held at Sedalia, September 25—The Coming Meeting of the Democratic State Committee—Political Matters.

The movement inaugurated by the Thurman Club of the Nineteenth Ward to accomplish a reform in the methods of conducting primary elections promises to achieve good results. The object of the club, as has been stated, is to have these preliminary contests managed in such a manner as to give satisfaction to all concerned. This is the only way the club argues of securing harmony and united action when it comes to the election.

Chairman Carlisle of the City Committee said this morning that he had read the petition circulated by the Thurman Club, and had given the matter some attention. "You can say," he said, "that the Central Committee, the chairman included, proposes to have fair and honest primaries at any cost. I have spoken to the members and all are in favor of making personal sacrifices for the general good of the party. At the primary election in the spring of 1889 all the factions got the representation they asked and there was no discord to contend with after the convention. The Committee proposes to do the same this time. I don't believe, however, that stringing the ballots will prevent tricks in the polling places. That was tried years ago, and there was dissatisfaction then. The members of the committee generally agree that the best plan is to select judges against whom there can be no suspicion. The idea is to have the judges and clerks selected and published so that all the voters can see who they are. If there is any well grounded objection to any Judge and the member of the committee for that ward declines to look into the matter, the committee as a whole can then take up the matter, and if the objections are sustained, it can drop the objectionable judge and select somebody else. This, however, would only be done conditionally that the committeeman of the ward from whence the objection originated refused to give it proper consideration. The Central Committee wants a fair primary and the Democratic voters can rest assured that they will get it."

THE MOVEMENT SPREADING.

The movement of the Thurman Club is spreading to other Democratic organizations. This evening the Seventeenth Ward Club will meet at Twenty-first and Franklin avenue and will, its officers say, indorse the recommendations of the Nineteenth Ward organization. The Seventeenth Ward Club will also give some attention to the action of the Ninth Congressional District Democratic Committee at its last meeting when it declined to consider a petition urging Alex. McAuliffe for the vacancy in the Congressional Committee. The officers of the club claim that they were shown no consideration whatever when they presented the petition. They were asked to step outside, it appears, and when the doors were thrown open they were informed that Dug Crothers had been elected to fill the vacancy.

Another Labor Convention Called.

The Alldredge-Blake combination of the Union Labor party has issued a call for a State convention to be held at Sedalia, September 25. The basis of representation is arranged to secure a large attendance of delegates. One delegate is allowed each county and city ward, every Trades' and Labor Union and Farmers' Alliance Union is allowed one, and in addition to this, one is allowed for every 300 votes cast for Ahira Manring, the Labor nominee for Governor in 1888. The call was issued by Alldredge and opposed by Blake. Both lay claim to the chairmanship of the Labor Committee and only combined to defeat the Garland faction.

Mr. Blake said to-day that the Garland faction had been signally routed and that it could not muster enough delegates at its convention to constitute a corporal's guard.

The Garland wing of the party has called a Convention for next Monday at Jefferson City and its leader says that it will positively take place. So far as is known none of the wards or county organizations paid any attention to the call. The managers of the faction insist that they will nominate a ticket, however.

The Union Labor voters outside of the city recognize Mr. Alldredge only, claiming that Blake has no more claim on the chairmanship than Garland. This is understood to be the position Alldredge takes himself. He resides in California, Mo., and is running for Congress on a Union Labor-Farmers' ticket.

State Democratic Committee Meeting.

Next Saturday the State Democratic Committee will hold an adjourned meeting at the headquarters in the Temple Building to formally agree upon the twice postponed plan of campaign. All the committeemen are expected to be on hand, as the meeting will be one of the most important since the convention. Chairman Maffitt is in Washington, but will be back in time to attend the meeting. It is understood that one of his objects in going to Washington was to confer with the Democratic Congressmen from Missouri concerning the condition of the Democratic forces in their respective districts. When the committee meets all the members are expected to make reports on this subject. The candidates will also be looked for and their contributions for campaign expenses will be accepted by Treasurer Brown. At the last meeting of the committee it was unanimously decided to impose no assessments and depend upon voluntary contributions to defray the legitimate expenses of the campaign. The Republican State Convention will have its ticket in the field by next Saturday and the Democratic organization will then know just what it has to contend with in the campaign. This was one of the reasons why the committee deferred the formal opening of the campaign.

Among other important matters that will be discussed in executive session is the report that the Republican workers in various parts of the State are trying to make combinations with Farmers' Alliance leaders to defeat Democratic candidates for the Legislature. Another report has it that a combination of this kind will be tried against Congressman Heard in the Sixth District.

Mr. Bain's Appointment.

George Bain was on the slate made up by the supposed-to-be-deputy-presidents, Congressmen Niedringhaus, Frank and Kinsey, after their election, for consul to Glasgow. Subsequently, when the slate was a heap of uninteresting ruins, Mr. Bain changed his ambition and was severally indorsed for postmaster. That was when Deputy President Kerens lost his hold on the lever of power and failed to convert Col. Schuarte into a Government official. When J. B. Harlow was appointed postmaster Mr. Bain again changed his ambition, and was put forward for assistant postmaster. Isaac H. Sturgeon at present occupies that office.

Recently luck has begun to go Mr. Bain's way. He was appointed to a ten-day job as special agent of the Census Bureau, revising the census of St. Louis, and more recently, on the recommendation of the Citizens' Census Committee, he has been chosen to collect manufacturing statistics for the Census Bureau. The compensation is small, but the Citizens' Committee proposes to make it worth the while of a good man to do the work well. Mr. Bain has entered upon the work with enthusiasm.

St. Louis County Republicans.

The Republicans in the five townships of St. Louis County hold mass meetings this evening to select delegates to a County Convention that meets Monday at Clayton. This convention will elect fifteen delegates to represent the county in the State Convention, which meets in Jefferson City next Thursday.

Carondelet Republicans.

Turner Hall was packed last evening with Republicans, who assembled to nominate a Central committeeman and four delegates and alternates to the State Convention. Chas. W. Hecquemburg was appointed chairman and John W. Larley secretary. Peter Bouchein and Fred. [illegible]. Hoffmeister were nominated for Central Committeemen. The delegates nominated are as follows: Chas. W. Hecquemburg, W. P. Etling, Luke Brockway (colored), V. B. S. Reber, Thomas F. Murphy, Chas. Bradley (colored), Alexander Marshall and S. W. Gunn. The meeting adjourned with the understanding that the Republicans present would support the nominees at Monday's primary election, leaving them free to vote for either Bouchein or Hoffmeister for Committeeman.

On the 300th Ballot.

NEWTON, Miss., Aug. 23.—Democrats of the Fifth District, on the 300th ballot, nominated J. H. Beman for Congress.

Political Notes.

The Twenty-fifth Ward Republican Club will meet to-night at Ewing and Chouteau avenues to nominate a delegation for the State Convention.

The Sixteenth Ward Republican Club will have a meeting to-night at Teutonia Hall, Twenty-second and Montgomery streets, to nominate delegates to the State Convention.

The Twenty-seventh Ward Republicans will meet at King's highway and Old Manchester road this evening to nominate delegates for the State Convention, which meets next Thursday at Jefferson City.

Henry S. Harmon, Wm. Shafer, Arnold Beck, Frank Eilemann, August Russell and Louis Keshfal have been nominated by one of the Twelfth Ward Republican factions for delegates to the State Convention.

HUNTING FOR CLEWS.

Theories Advanced by Detectives at Work on the Missouri Pacific Train Robbery.

SEDALIA, Mo., Aug. 23.—The release of the man McClosky, who was suspected of complicity in the Pacific Express robbery near Otterville last Sunday morning, has set the detectives at work on other clews. One of the detectives, after weighing carefully all the circumstances and going over the scene of the robbery, has advanced the novel idea that the conception and execution of the work was an inspiration of a moment, the one following quickly after the other, and his theory is that the robbery was committed by two or three tramps, and these tramps, he argues, were riding upon the blind mail car when they suddenly conceived the idea of robbing the express car. Having revolvers, they at once acted upon the suggestion, and the hold up and robbery followed.

Detectives Dickey and Tutt had up until last midnight one of the most promising clews yet followed. Early yesterday they received word that a party of five fakirs, who had been working a shell and other confidence games at the Tipton Fair last week, left that city Friday night. Three of these men answered in every particular the description given of the robbers, both as to size and clothing. They were known to be bad men, two of the parties, it is said, being ex-convicts. The men were followed to Jefferson City by train and from there it was learned that they had gone to Aurora Springs, where a picnic was in progress. Last Saturday during the day they inquired the way to the nearest station on the Missouri Pacific road and were told to go to California, three miles distant. The men hired a team for $10 from Bliss' livery stable and engaged a boy to drive them across the country. This boy was found at California yesterday. He says the men were a desperate set, cursing him and threatening to kill him if he did not keep his team on a gallop. They all had revolvers. This party got to California a few minutes before train No. 3, the one that was robbed, arrived from the east, and disappeared immediately. Conductor Marsh is confident that no such party of passengers or any like them got on his train.

WANTED TO BE LOCKED UP.

The Persistent Efforts of a Hard Character to Satisfy the Law.

On May 31 last John Cole, alias Otto Ansler, alias Brown, alias Overstolz, alias Broler, escaped from the City Workhouse. He had been sent down from the First District Police Court a week before on a ten days' sentence for vagrancy and took leg bail while at work in the stables. He had but two days longer to serve and no effort was made to effect his recapture.

Yesterday morning the man reappeared at the Work-house and announced that he desired to give himself up in order to serve out the remainder of his sentence. He said he was tired hiding from the police and insisted that ever since May he had not dared to go out on the street until after dark. Supt. Carroll learned that the man had but two days to serve and refused to lock him up. Cole, however, was not so easily satisfied. He had made up his mind to surrender and surrender he must. Becoming satisfied that the Workhouse authorities would not have him, he went at once to the Second District Police Station and told Capt. Huebler that he had escaped from the "works."

The Captain knew the man's general reputation as a thief and vagrant and put him in a cell. Late in the evening he communicated with the Work-house and found that the man was not wanted. Then he searched the records only to learn that Cole, despite his many aliases, had served time for every offense charged up to his account. There was nothing left but to release the man, and he was turned out to-day.

ILLINOIS CROPS.

Figures Given by the State Board of Agriculture—Effects of the Drouth.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 23.—An interesting summary concerning the crops has just been issued by the State Board of Agriculture. It says that the hay area this year was 2,705,000 acres, and the average yield one and one-half tons an acre. The crop is valued at $2,300,000. The flaxseed area is 10,000 acres, and will yield 90,000 bushels. Broomcorn is not as extensively raised in this State as the demand justifies. The bulk is grown in Douglas, Greene, Iroquois, Menard and Vermillion Counties, and there the condition is good, but in other portions of the State the average yield indicates less than three-fourths of a crop. The prospect for Irish potatoes has never been more discouraging here. The continued drought, covering a period of nearly three months, has ruined the growing crop. With the most favorable condition not more than a third of a crop can be expected. The yield for this State last season was 15,484,000 bushels. Sweet potatoes are doing fairly well and will yield three-fourths of a crop. In a number of counties farmers are cutting up growing corn to feed their cattle on account of a lack of pasturage. The recent rains softened the ground for fall plowing, but came too late to do much good to crops.

Ireland's Potato Crop.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The Government has initiated an official inquiry into the reported failure of the potato crop in Ireland.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

An unknown colored woman was run over on the T. & P. road near Dallas, Tex., yesterday and instantly killed.

An unknown old man who was trying to beat his way from Bloomington to Ashland, Ill., on the C. & A. was run over and killed at the latter place yesterday.

Eight valuable horses belonging to A. J. Nolting of Lexington, Mo., took fright at a passing train yesterday and ran against a barb wire fence, receiving injuries from which they can not recover.

A commercial traveler named Paul Rhome got into a flirtation with a girl at Anniston, Ala., yesterday from his window at the hotel and finally sent her a note asking her to meet him. She handed the note to an officer, who arrested Rhome and on being given a trial he was fined $50. He paid the fine and skipped out.

Henry Harding, colored, went into a deep well at Leavenworth, Kan., yesterday to clean it out. He was partly overcome by gas and while being hauled out and near the top he fainted and let go the rope, dropping to the bottom. He was instantly killed.

Ben M. Dougherty, a railroad man, fell from a moving train at Fort Worth, Tex., yesterday and was instantly killed. He leaves a widow and three children.

Left the Rails.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 23.—Train No. 1, Pan handle, left the track near Bulger, Washington County, early this morning. Two cars were smashed, but no one was injured. A rail had been loosened, evidently with the intention of wrecking the train.

ABOUT THE TARIFF BILL.

NO AGREEMENT REACHED AS TO THE DATE OF THE VOTE IN THE SENATE.

Thursday and Saturday Next to Be Labor Days in the House—Maj. Brock's Figures on Exports and Imports—Congressman Tarsney's Question of Privilege—Blackburn's Eulogy on Beck—Washington News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 23.—Senator Gorman, chairman of the Democratic caucus, says that no agreement has been reached respecting the date when a vote shall be taken on the tariff bill. The debate, he says, will continue in pursuance of the policy adopted by the Democratic caucus held this session and applied to the Blair bill, the Montana election case and other subjects. When it is thought that there has been a sufficient if not satisfactory and thorough discussion of the tariff bill, the Democrats will agree in accordance with the custom of the Senate to take a vote on it. The question has been privately under consideration on both sides of the chamber and numerous dates suggested, but no conclusion has been reached. The proposition for a close must come, he says, from the Republicans. None has yet been received and when it comes it may or may not prove satisfactory in all respects. As stated yesterday, the general impression is that the date for the voting on the tariff bill will be fixed at about September 5. The official announcement of an agreement will be made, it is understood, by Senator Aldrich, in charge of the bill, who will move at the proper time that the debate cease upon the agreed date, and this motion will be agreed to unanimously. Whether or not the five-minute rule will be applied to the discussion at an earlier date Senator Gorman could not say, although he admitted that it was probable.

Maj. Chas. E. Pearce of St. Louis, who is here looking after his interests in the tariff measure, says: "The tariff bill will be voted upon the 15th of next month and will pass the Senate as agreed upon in the House except that the duty on sugar will be allowed to remain, to be reduced as foreign countries make a corresponding reciprocal reduction upon goods exported from the United States."

Exports and Imports.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 23.—Maj. Brock, Chief of the Bureau of Statistics, stated today that the July statement of imports and exports of gold, silver and merchandise would be sent the Treasury Department to-day; that a large excess of imports were shown due to large purchases by importers and held for sale to jobbers which in a measure accounted for the stringency in the money market. The exports of gold will be shown to be largely due to the above purchases and to the extensive travel from the United States to Europe this summer.

The September Interest.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 23.—Treasurer Huston has mailed all the checks in payment of the interest due September 1 on the 4½ per cent loan, amounting to $929,640.

The Senate.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 23.—The Senate met at noon to-day with the understanding that the day's session should be devoted to eulogies of the late Senator Beck of Kentucky. Mr. Blackburn made the opening address—an eloquent tribute to the high character, broad statesmanship and force and domestic virtues of the dead Senator. Senators Ingalls, Vest, Allison, Evarts and others followed with eloquent and feeling addresses.

The House.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 23.—In the House this morning Mr. McKinley, from the Committee on Rules, reported, and the House adopted a resolution setting aside Thursday and Saturday of next week for the consideration of the bills constituting eight hours a day's work and relative to alien contract labor.

The bill authorizing the construction of a bridge over the little Tennessee River at Niles Ferry, was passed.

Mr. Tarsney of Missouri, rising to a question of privilege, denied statements in a letter recently published in the National Tribune, to the effect that he had never been wounded nor taken prisoner during the war, and produced copies of official records of the War Department in support of his statement. The House then resumed consideration of the lard bill.

The market was dull, but prices were generally somewhat better.

A Complicated Transaction.

Mrs. Alice O'Bannon was yesterday served with a warrant charging her with embezzling $465 from J. K. Johnson, a race horse owner. Johnson borrowed $675 from the lady, giving her a mortgage on three horses as security. When the mortgage fell due Johnson could not lift it, and it is stated the difficulty was settled by his turning over the whole of his interest in the horses to the lady, who had them sold. They realized $1,145 and out of this $100 was paid for cost of help. It is the balance of purchase money over and above the mortgage indebtedness and expenses that the lady appears to be accused of embezzling.

Careless Driving.

While Mrs. Kate Mergahn, living at 1223 South Seventh street, was carrying her 8-months-old baby across Broadway, at Hickory street, about 7:40 o'clock this morning, she was struck and knocked down by a team of horses attached to a Green Tree Brewery wagon, and badly bruised about the body. The child was not injured.

Both Legs Broken.

At 10:45 o'clock this morning, 8-year-old Johnny Ebrulich was sitting on a spring wagon in front of his home at 3920 North Twenty-fifth street. A load of hay passed and the boy leaned forward to get a straw. He lost his balance and fell to the ground, the hind wheel of the hay wagon passing over his legs below the knees, breaking both members. He was attended at his home.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 23.—A dispatch from Helena, Mont., says: The scene of the Tongue River gold excitement, though properly in Wyoming, is in Montana's border, and many believe extends into the State. The excitement in Northwest Wyoming has reached fever heat, and a regular stampede from Dayton and Sheridan has set in. A number of persons have been in town during the week from the diggings and report the discovery to be rich in placer gold and that as high as $25 a day has been made to the man.

Wall Street.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Money has been easy at 3@4 per cent and closed at 3. The stock market opened irregular at changes from last night's closing figures, ranging up to ⅛ per cent in either direction. Considerable weakness soon developed, but by 11 o'clock a firmer tone set in and continued until the bank statement was made public, when the whole list again weakened, and the market closed dull and heavy at fractions under opening figures.

Cattle—Light receipts to-day as is usual on the end day of the week. The market, however, continued steady. Good butcher cattle of all kinds are wanted in more liberal quantities.

Hogs—The market was active and steady to-day at yesterday's closing prices under very light receipts. The extreme range was $3.50 to $4.15, with bulk at $3.95 to $4. Grass pigs and stubble hogs slow of sale from $2.75 to $3.40.

Sheep—The market was quiet to-day as it nearly always is on Saturday. Arrivals were moderate, but enough to meet the usual dull Saturday trade. Prices are steady at the decline as has hitherto been noted.

ON 'CHANGE.

Grain and Flour.

Wheat—Though the weather was warmer in the Northwest and the only frosts were in Michigan, there were so many reports of damage in North Dakota and Manitoba, and advices from the spring wheat crop so generally unfavorable, regarding both quantity and quality, that the markets did not give the least evidence of weakness, but were strong from the start. Some of the bears and a few half-hearted bulls were inclined to sell at the opening, but they got over that inclination very quickly when they saw all the outside markets stoutly maintained. Foreign market advices were bullish, reporting advances and unsettled weather abroad. Our own receipts were 40,000,000 bu less than one year ago. Seaboard clearances 31,000 pkgs flour and 86,000 bu wheat and plenty of bull tips floating around. As most of the bull talent were holding off, not having caught on to this bulge, there was not the wild enthusiasm in the home market that has been seen in previous booms. But there was enough bull in the market without these side-tracked operators to run the price up 1½c and hold the market very strong for some time. The Austrian agricultural report in the world's crop requirements and surplus started a weaker feeling and later there was plenty of selling by the longs who did not care about staying in over Sunday. The close was easy and ½@¾c above yesterday. September sold at $1.02¼. December opened at $1.07⅝, sold up to $1.07⅞, off to $1.07½@⅝, up to $1.08, to $1.07⅝, to $1.07⅞, to $1.08⅛, off to $1.07⅝, to $1.08⅛, to $1.07⅞@1.08, to $1.07½, to $1.07⅝, to $1.07⅞, to $1.07½, to $1.07⅝@1.07⅞ to $1.07⅝, to $1.07⅞ and closed at $1.07½. May opened at $1.14 sold off to $1.13¾, up to $1.14½, to $1.13¾ and at close $1.13⅝ asked. SPOT GRADES were higher. There were a few Southern orders here for No. 2 red, but the principal buyers still millers and carriers, the former taking the No. 3 red also. Sales: No. 2 red—3 cars regular at $1.01⅛, 17 do and 30 in St. L. at $1.01¼, 4 cars and 1,800 bu E. side at $1.01⅜, 2 cars and 5,000 bu E. side at $1.01½. No. 3 red—1 car in C., 2 in St. L. and 3 in Cdlt. at 98c; same bid for more in St. L. and C., 98½c for E. side. No. 2 Turkish—5 cars regular at 98c, 6 do at 97½c. No. 3 Turkish—4 cars in Cdlt at 92c. No. 4—91c bid regular, 91½c for E. side, 92c for Valley and Cdlt. Rejected offered at 81c, bid 80c for E. side. SAMPLES advanced stiffly with grades, and although business was fair at the advance, the tables were not cleaned up at the close. Sales: In special bins—1 car rejected at 90c, 1 at 96c, 1 No. 3 at 97c, 4 No. 3 at 98c, 1 at 98½c, 1 No. 4 at 99c East track—1 car No. 3 at 99½c, 1 No. 2 at $1.02, 1 at $1.02¼, 1 at $1.02½. West track—1 car No. 4 at 92c, 1 No. 3 at 99c, 1 No. 2 at $1.02. Sacks—1,200 bu no-grade at 82c; 26 sks at 92c, 12 at 93c, 36 at 96c, 2,500 bu in store at 97½c, 24 sks cheaty at 98c, 129 at 99c, 45, 160, 145, 66, 84 and 47 at $1, 266 at $1.01, 2,000 and 150 at $1.01½, 45 at $1.03, 178 for seed at $1.05.

Corn—This market was inclined to hold back on the breeching this morning and not respond to the advance in wheat. There was a good deal of corn for sale in the pit early in the day and the general crowd was bearish. Nothing in the way of frost damage was heard and the weather was favorable for the crop. Receipts at this point were very small and cables higher, but seaboard clearances only 22,000 bu. There was a moderate rally when wheat was at its strongest, but afterwards dropped back gradually and at close May was ¾c below yesterday. September sold at 45⅝c, sold up to 46¼c and down to 45⅝c at close. October sold at 47⅛c, to 46⅝@½c. May opened at 51¼c, sold to 51⅜c, to 51⅛c, to 51½c, to 51c, to 51¼c, to 50½c and closed at the bottom. SPOT GRADES—The demand showed no enlargement and came entirely from local and order dealers for a few cars. No. 2 sold higher, but No. 2 white only steady. Sales: 2 cars in C., 3 in St. L. and 3 in Cdlt. at 46c; regular offered at 45⅞c and for E. side 45¾c bid. No. 2 white—2 cars in M. and 10 in St. L. at 51½c; regular offered at 51¼c, bid 50¾c for E. side. No. 3 white offered E. side at 51c, bid 50c for E. side and St. L. No. 3 white offered in St. L. at 45¾c, no bid. Sacked on orders 54@56c, according to size of lot.

Oats—The speculative market was dull and lacked even the little strength that corn at one time showed. August sold at 37⅛c and September at 36⅜c to 36c. May opened at 40⅛c, sold up to 40¾c and off to 40c, with latter asked at close. SPOT GRADES were stronger and in better order request. Sales: No. 2—2 cars regular at 37⅛c, 1 do and 1 in M. at 37c; 5,000 bu offered regular at 37c and for car lots, 37⅛c for E. side. No. 3—1 car in A. at 35c. No. 4 salable regular at 33c. SAMPLES—Offerings were plentiful and the market was very dull. Prices declined fully ½@1c, and a large number of cars were held over, owing to the lower views of buyers. Sales—1 car No. 3 at 35c, 11 cars do at 35½, 4 No. 3 color at 36c, 3 No. 3 white at 37c, 3 No. 2 white at 39c, 2 do at 39½c, sacked on orders 45@46c, according to size of lot.

Rye—An urgent demand that could not be supplied, as there were no offerings. As high as 70c was bid for No. 2 and 66c for No. 3 spot, and for No. 2 to arrive 68c was bid.

Commercial Notes.

The after effects of the frost are worse than the actual frost itself.

September corn shorts are uneasy. There is a large shortage here. St. Louis can buy no corn in the country and shipments have been made from this market to Chicago, so much higher is that market than St. Louis.

Some of the late, most enthusiastic $1.50 bulls on wheat appear to be badly side-tracked on this advance.

New York wired: The Austrian Minister of Agriculture gives the requirements of importing countries as 348,000,000 bu, and surplus of exporting countries as 410,000,000 bu, making a surplus of 62,000,000 bu over requirements. This will go to the Vienna Congress on Monday.

Beerbohm says the stocks of wheat, foreign and native, in the United Kingdom are 23,056,000 bu and not 32,000,000 bu, as reported by the Mark Lane Express.

A New York telegram reads: The world's crop, according to the Hungarian statistics, has been corrected to 2,056,825,000 bu, instead of 2,202,400,000, and the exportable surplus of all exporting countries has been accordingly reduced.

The weather is warmer in the Northwest, with light rains in Dakota and Nebraska. Frost reported all over Michigan, but none elsewhere. Good rain in the Eastern States. The indications are for warmer weather.

Prime's report gives no change in the quantity of the United States wheat crop, but says the quality of the spring wheat deteriorated. He says that reports from fields differ as to damage by frost. His report shows no change in corn.

An item from Italy is that it is still too soon to give an estimate of the turn-out of the wheat crop, but the opinion is that it will exceed by five to six million bushels last year's yield.

The Milwaukee Sentinel says: A Winnipeg (Man.) dispatch says: The Government issued its third crop bulletin yesterday. The average wheat yield will be 25 bu per acre, with a total of 20,000,000 bu. If the Canadian Government is correctly reputed it is engaged in the booming business on a scale of magnitude, compared with which the proverbial Dakota liar is a saint. The crop of Manitoba in 1889 was only 7,428, 511 bu, and that of Ontario and other provinces 24,788,983 bu or a total of 31,217,494 bu against 32,000,000 bu in 1888. Now, if Manitoba this year is to raise 20,000,000 bu wheat, then Ontario and other provinces ought to have 40,000,000 bu or a total of 60,000,000 bu for all Canada. And yet the "bears" believe it all.

Chicago Letters.

Special to J. C. Ewald.

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—Wheat—A cablegram from Pesth says that the importing countries require 123,000,000 hectolitres of wheat and that exporting countries have 148,000,000 to supply them. The Ontario Commissioner of Agriculture reports, according to a Chicago Tribune telegram, that their crop is 67,000,000 more than last year. A prominent bull operator was asked his opinion of this last statement and replied: "I know nothing about it, but if it is bearish it is an infernal lie." This gives the condition of the markets. The bulls shut their eyes and continue buying and all news not bullish is pronounced false. The bull factors to-day are more frost damage and wet weather in the Northwest and higher cables. We note heavy realizing on a large line of long wheat heretofore well held, and at the close the market shows the effect of it in a weaker tone.

Corn was very dull until the sample market opened, when a heavy demand sprung up for cash, frightening September shorts and causing a sharp advance, the bulls helping it in fine style and unloading on the bears at top prices. The market then dropped into its early condition of dullness; it has been a local market and without noteworthy features.

Provisions very dull and without noteworthy features. W. G. MCCORMICK & CO.

Special Market Letter to J. P. Grier.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 23.—Foreign advices on grains were firm and noting bad weather and our local conditions in the extreme Northwest were such as to cause fears and uneasiness, and the market opened wild under miscellaneous buying. A local operator was credited with heavy buying during most of the session and leaves him according to report largely long. A local long sold out above $1.10 for December, which precipitated a decline later. No charters here or takings at the seaboard to-day. Bulls believe that time will develop great damage done to the Manitoba crop by recent frosts, which, if verified, will undoubtedly put the markets higher. Until that is known or reports from the Vienna congress prove a shortage the market should be steady. Corn and oats weak except when stimulated by strength in wheat and without killing frosts in the corn belt we look for decline before further advance. 25,000 hogs predicted for Monday and 130,000 for the week. Provisions steady with packers fair selling. F. G. LOGAN & CO.

IN A PITIFUL STATE.

E. R. FRANCISCO OF ST. JOSEPH TELLS OF JOSEPH LEVY'S CONDITION.

Dr. Doyle Says He Thinks the Demented Man Will Recover Unless Brain Fever Sets In—The Afflicted Merchant Still Thinks He Is in St. Louis and Keeps Asking for His Sister, Mrs. Baum.

Mr. E. R. Francisco, commercial agent of the Wabash Railroad Co. at St. Joseph, Mo., who arrived here this morning, is thoroughly conversant with the particulars of the finding of Mr. Joseph Levy, the St. Louis merchant, who was missing for several days. Mr. Francisco resides at No. 612 South Eleventh street, St. Joseph, just next door to the residence of Levy's mother and relatives there, and at their request the gentleman called this morning on Mr. Joseph Baum to acquaint him with the particulars of his partner's recovery and condition. Mr. Francisco was at the store of Joseph Baum & Co. when a POST-DISPATCH reporter called there this morning.

TO BRING THE NEWS.

"I left St. Joseph last evening and got in here this morning," the gentleman remarked, "and I came to see Mr. Baum at the request of Mr. Felix Levy and other members of the family who wanted me to acquaint Mr. Baum with the exact condition of Mr. Joseph Levy and give him all the information in my power about the case. While I have not seen Mr. Levy myself—none but his relatives and his physician have—I have been kept thoroughly posted by the family. They live next door to us, the house being a double one, with only a brick wall dividing the two dwellings. Thursday night, about 10:30 o'clock, I heard him when he came to the house. I heard the voices talking, but did not know at the time that it was Mr. Levy at the door. Next morning his nephew, Mr. Felix Levy, informed me that his uncle had arrived during the night and was very sick, and he requested that we make as little noise as possible in our house as Mr. Levy's physician said he must have perfect rest and quiet. It seems that when Mr. Levy came to the house he was travel-stained and his hands were torn and bleeding as if he had been riding on freight trains and had to hold on to the iron bars of the cars. It is the belief of the family that he reached the city on a freight train. If this is the case he must to have had quite a walk from the freight yards to the house. When he reached the house his mind was deranged and he was unable to recognize any of his people except Felix Levy, his nephew. The others all flocked about him, but he did not know them. Last evening he was looking for his sister, Mrs. Joseph Baum, and it is believed that he thinks himself in St. Louis and at her house, which he made his home. His mother, his sister, Mrs. Dave Weil, and his niece and others he did not know, and he asked for nobody except Mrs. Baum. The family have questioned him about his wanderings, and other matters, but he is unable to remember anything, Dr. Doyle, who is attending him, is a very eminent physician, and it is believed that with rest and quiet Mr. Levy's mind will come around all right.

DANGER OF BRAIN FEVER.

"Of course there is danger of brain fever setting in and being attended with serious results. At present the man's mind is in a bad way, but he is receiving every possible care and attention. When Mr. Levy came to the house he had on a light overcoat and had it buttoned up and complained of it being cold. He had his watch and it was running, so he had evidently not failed to wind it up, and he had $5 in his pocket. This is believed to be the bill he got from the cashier of the store the day he disappeared from here and it would indicate that he had spent little or no money. It is supposed that he was a few days on the road from St. Louis to St. Joseph. He complains constantly of a pain in the head, but there is no sign of any injury to be found."

Mrs. Baum, Mr. Levy's sister, says he had no overcoat on when he left home and she cannot account for his having one when he got to St. Joseph. Her husband, however, says that he may have procured an overcoat most anywhere. Mr. Baum thinks that the fewer people there is about the man the quicker will be his recovery. Mrs. Baum will start for St. Joseph immediately if needed, but she and her husband think it more advisable for her to remain here than to be at his bedside, as it might only tend to retard his recovery to have so many about him. Mr. Francisco's recital of the condition of Mr. Levy had a most visible effect on Mr. Baum, and the merchant found it impossible to restrain himself from giving way to his grief.

Mrs. Stone, wife of Prof. Stone, has in press and is now busy examining the proofs of her book, "One of Berrian's Novels" (suggested by Bellamy's "Looking Backward"). It will make its appearance early in the fall.

Mrs. Kate Choupin has her book, "At Fault," all ready for publication and will bring it out this fall. It is said to be very bright and interesting. She has also written a few poems of a high order of merit, one of them, "The Awakening of Psyche," has been very much admired, and Mr. Will Schuyler, after carrying it around as a "pocket piece," has set it to music.

Mrs. Joseph Specht's new book, "Alfrieda," will soon be ready to issue in September and will, of course, attract much interest.

Mrs. Berry has about ready a very pleasing novel founded upon Russian life.

A PULLMAN CONDUCTOR SHOT.

A Colored Porter Resents Alleged Overbearing Conduct on the Cars.

Harris B. Jordan shot Edward G. Beardslee in the Union Depot building late yesterday afternoon. The former was porter and the latter conductor on a Pullman car running on the Missouri Pacific and Missouri, Kansas & Texas roads between St. Louis and San Antonio, Tex. They only ran one trip together, and seem to have found it impossible to work harmoniously. The porter accused the conductor of overbearing conduct in the presence of passengers, and more particularly at Sedalia, where he refused to hand over duplicate checks showing where the different passengers alighted. On arriving at St. Louis yesterday morning Jordan lodged a complaint against Beardslee, and the latter was spoken to on the matter. The men met outside the office door and it is supposed they quarreled. On hearing a pistol shot, District Superintendent Du Bois ran out and found Beardslee on the ground with Jordan with his pistol in his hand. The latter was disarmed and arrested, and the injured conductor was taken to the City Hospital, where he rapidly sank and died at 10 p. m. without having been able to make a statement.

Jordan does not deny the shooting, but says he acted in self-defense. His story is that the deceased struck him several blows, one a very severe one. There were three witnesses of the shooting, all of whom agree that Beardslee struck Jordan before the shot was fired. The prisoner is 26 years of age and the deceased was 30.

A SHORT CROP.

Missouri's Tobacco Estimated at 2,000 Hogsheads for This Season.

"The Missouri tobacco crop will not amount to more than 2,000 hogsheads," said Walter J. Blakely. "The drouth has something to do with the falling off, but the principal reason is there have been so many poor years for tobacco that the farmers have become discouraged and paid very little attention to it this year. Then, too, burley is king. All the tobacco raised in Missouri is black, and that is only used now for navy plug. The Government buys it to serve out as rations to seamen in the navy, and all sailors take a supply of it with them on their voyages. When burley came in the Missouri farmers were warned not to touch 'the unclean thing.' They did not, but the Kentucky farmers took it up. The popular chew now is a light brown plug, and so the burley tobacco is in demand by the manufacturers. The Louisville and Cincinnati markets, which are near the region in which the tobacco is raised, benefit largely because of this."

ROBBERY FRUSTRATED.

Sergt. Shoemaker Interrupts a Thief and Takes Him to the Four Courts.

At a very early hour this morning Sergt. Shoemaker took a man named William Burns to the Four Courts and had him locked up on a charge of robbery. At about midnight the Sergeant was passing Pittulata's saloon on the corner of Twefth and Locust, when he heard a disturbance inside the saloon. He at once went in and found one man at the money drawer and another covering Pittulata with a revolver and threatening to blow his head off if he did not open the safe. The Sergeant rushed up to the man with a revolver, disarmed him and placed him under arrest. The other thief ran out and Shoemaker followed with his prisoner, who managed to escape while he was firing at the fugitive. The Sergeant gave chase and eventually captured the thief he had seen at the money drawer and who was at once identified. He gave the name of William Burns.

A Flat Contradiction.

Annie Scherer, a 13-year-old girl living in North St. Louis, saw an advertisement in one of the papers from Charles Roth of 102 North Third street for help. The girl applied for the position yesterday afternoon and alleges that when she did so he took her into a back room and attempted to assault her. The matter is being investigated by the police, to whom Mr. Roth denies the charge, alleging that his wife and a gentleman were present during the interview.

IN THE ARENA OF SPORT.

THE AMERICAN RACE HORSE AHEAD OF THE ENGLISH THOROUGHBRED.

Tenny to Be Sent Against Time—Mr. Arkell Talks of His Plans for Improving the Saratoga Track—Palo Alto Easily Out Trots Jack—Racing, Base Ball and Other Sports.

EARLY last week a rumor was started in some inexplicable way that Mr. J. B. Haggin had decided to ship his great pair of race horses, Salvator and Firenzi, across the Atlantic to measure strides with the best English thoroughbreds, says the New York Star. The rumor was utterly without foundation, but died hard because it appealed strongly to a popular sentiment. The average American citizen is never so well pleased as when something from the United States comes in ahead of something from the British Isles. Moreover, there still exists in the minds of a majority of those who take an interest in turf matters a belief that, although the American trotter stands pre-eminent, the American running thoroughbred is outclassed by his English cousin. The belief is only part of a general impression that England, the parentland of the racehorse, takes the lead in everything pertaining to racing. Hence, when an unbeatable wonder is produced here, patriots like to see him beat a few English marvels before he dies.

Men competent to compare England and American racing do not share this belief. Among them is the owner of Salvator and Firenzi. Mr. Haggin knows that the King and Queen of the American turf can gain no glory in Britain. He has seen the horses which our transatlantic friends regard as their best, and realizes that none of them can give Salvator, or Firenzi either, in all probability, a hard race under such conditions as would be fair to his representatives. The time in which English races are run is not officially taken, so the general public in this country is deprived of one easy method of comparing the thoroughbreds of the two lands. Time records are carefully kept in Australia, however, where the conditions are similar to those which prevail here. A comparison of records show at that every distance up to three miles the American runner is from one to four seconds faster than the Australian. The career of The Ringmaster and other good Australian horses proves that the thoroughbred of the antipodes can win big stakes in England, even after a voyage half-way around the globe.

Good judges of horses who have seen the high-class performers on both sides of the Atlantic declare that, at any distance up to a mile and a quarter, the average British thoroughbred would be simply nowhere in a race with an average American horse, weights being carried according to what is known as the American scale. The English horse can pack up weight and go a distance at a smooth, even gait—that is his forte. The American horse is an unrivaled sprinter. In view of these facts, it is easy to see why Mr. Haggin does not care to inflict the discomforts of an ocean passage upon his peerless equine stars. With the possible exception of the unbeaten Donovan, there is not a horse in England of whom Salvator could not make the sorriest sort of a show at any distance up to a mile and a half.

Tenny Against Time.

Dave Pulsifer is having his great little horse Tenny specially prepared for a trial against all existing mile records. The race is to take place at the Brighton Beach track Monday next, weather permitting. Had the track been in proper condition it would have taken place this week.

It was Col. Pulsifer's original intention to try and lower only Ten Broeck's record for the distance, viz., 1:39¾, which was made in a race against time over the Louisville (Ky.) course, May 24, 1877. Ten Broeck on this occasion carried 110 pounds. Mr. Pulsifer proposed that Tenny should carry 118, but finally concluded that he would also try to beat Raveloe's time made over the straight course at Monmouth Park a couple of weeks ago, which was one-half second faster than that of Ten Broeck, and for this purpose he was granted permission by the Brighton Beach Association to carry eight pounds less than first agreed upon.

The race will be the fifth event on the card, and if successful the owner of the little swayback will receive $5,000; in any event he will get $2,500.

The race will be run very similar to the Ten Broeck race nearly fourteen years ago. There will be three pace makers whose riders will act under instructions from Trainer Donovan. One of these pace makers will be Tenny's stable companion, Punster, Jr., who will probably "break" with him and accompany him to the second turn. Here a second horse will start off at full speed, with Tenny in hot pursuit, while entering the stretch he will find another speedy thoroughbred to lead him home.

Since the weight has been reduced Hamilton will probably have the mount on Rayon d'Or's Grandson, as Garrison is altogether too heavy.

Trainer Donovan is confident that he will win the $5,000. He says that Tenny can cover the first half of the distance in 0:50 flat, and he always shows to better advantage at the finish he has not the least doubt but the last as half will be done in 0:49, making the time for the mile 1:39.

Track Supt. Jim Clary is now hard at work getting the track in condition for the race, and thinks he will have no trouble in making it at least half a second faster than usual.

Arkell's Plans for Saratoga.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—W. J. Arkell talked yesterday about the recent acquisition of the Saratoga race-track by a syndicate of which he is the President. Those interested in the enterprise have leased the property for twenty-five years upon a valuation of last season's earnings, which aggregates $71,000, it is claimed, figures which will strike most persons claiming familiarity with the subject as surprisingly large in view of the small returns made to the State Controller under the Ives pool law based on gate receipts. Mr. Arkell thinks the new management will develop their purchase into a first-class racing property that will next season compare favorably with Morris Park, Sheepshead Bay and Monmouth Park.

On this point Mr. Arkell said: "We intend to organize a national membership at $25 a year subscription, which of itself will create a self-sustaining fund, and at the same time help Saratoga by attracting thousands of persons in the season who otherwise would not think of going there. No purse of less than $1,000 will be offered. This liberal feature will induce the owners of good stables to be there. There is a large population at Albany, Troy, and adjacent places to draw upon, and improved train service will swell the attendance upon race days. We shall, at the close of the present racing season, tear down the grand stand, which is totally inadequate, having been erected by John Morrissey as long ago as 1864 to meet the limited requirements of those primitive racing days. In its stead will be built a grand stand upon the plan of the new one at Monmouth Park, with ample accommodations for restaurants and at least sixty bookmakers under the seating part. New stables at Horse haven will also be erected, and the approaches will be rendered more attractive, and the course itself improved and modernized, and I have no doubt of the perfect success of the venture. I did not go into it until I thought and satisfied myself on that point. We shall run the course in perfect order with the other great Jockey Clubs, by which I mean to be understood that our dates will not conflict with those of the Brooklyn, Coney Island and New York Jockey Clubs's Associations that are conducted under the State law regulating the betting upon race-tracks between May 15 and October 15."

Chicago Record Breakers.

From an Eastern Exchange.

Teuton, the colt that, according to the predictions of Western turf correspondents, was going to sweep before him everything in this part of the United States not already swept by Homer, Racine and Uncle Bob, has seen his scalp added to Reclare's large collection. When it was evident that the big son of Ten Broeck and the sterling little daughter of Reform were to meet at Saratoga, the talent were in a quandary. The matter settled itself on a sectional basis; the Western contingent played Teuton, while their Eastern brethren backed Reclare, and the pair went to the post at equal odds. There the equality ended. Racine, who has not yet started on an Eastern track, is the only Western idol which remains unshattered. His turn will undoubtedly come as soon as he makes a race in first-class company.

Palo Alto Defeats Jack.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 23.—The event of the trotting meeting at Washington Park yesterday was the match trot between Palo Alto and Jack for a purse of $5,000. The Chicago trotter was overmatched by the California stallion, and Palo Alto won the race in three straight heats. He beat Jack four lengths in the opening heat, three parts of a length in the second and three lengths in the third and final heat, which was trotted in the fastest time ever made in a race—2:13. The best previous record was 2:13½, made at the West Side Driving Park, Chicago, by Maud S., when she defeated Trinket, and Palo Alto equaled her record at Detroit a few weeks ago. To-day Sunol will endeavor to lower her own record and that of Maud S. also. Jack broke in every heat yesterday, while Palo Alto never got out of a trot, and in the third heat he shot right away from the Chicago horse when given the whip. Marvin drove Palo Alto and Bud Doble was up behind Jack.

The Futurity Stakes; for 3-year-old trotters, was a walk-over for Theresa Ciallamont, Pastime failing to appear.

The Hopeful Stakes, for 3-year-olds, best two heats in three, was won by Lissette in two straight heats. Time, 2:30, 2:30.

After Emma Balch had won the first heat of the 2:28 trot, Alabaster took the next three and the race. Time, 2:25½, 2:24½, 2:25, 2:23¾.

The fourth event was the match race in which Palo Alto beat Jack in three straight heats. Time, 2:18¼, 2:15, 2:13.

The 2:32 class trot was not finished. Chief Medium won the first, Navidad the second and third and Duke the fourth heats. Then the races were called on account of darkness.

Base Ball Briefs.

To-morrow's game will be a bracer.

To-morrow's game will begin at 3:30 p. m.

Henry Fuller, Shorty's brother, is in town.

The Browns have a promising youngster in Miller.

Tom Ramsey wanted to pitch the entire series against Louisville.

Louisville has played awful lucky ball this season. Chapman admits this to be a fact.

Jeff Dolan, an Evansville twirler, is here and may be signed by President Von der Ahe.

Duffee likes his change from center to third base. "Duf," by the way, has been doing the hitting for the Browns of late.

Miller, the Browns' new outfielder, is built something like Curt Welch. He is an active man on his feet, a good judge of a fly ball and a magnificent thrower.

The Philadelphia National League Club has traded Pitcher Day and Center Fielder Burke to the Pittsburg National League Club in exchange for Billy Sunday, the outfielder.

It is said that Manager Powers and Secretary Bohacheck of the Rochester Club are at loggerheads and that Powers has declared that he will leave the club unless Bohacheck is discharged.

Manager Kennedy of the Brooklyns says the directors of his club have not yet positively decided to quit business. He claims the American Association, through President Phelps, guaranteed the players' salaries if the club would make this trip west, and now he says President Phelps refuses to pay the players their salaries.

The Browns are after Ed Daily, formerly of the Brooklyn Association team, but who is now with the New York League Club, in violation of the national agreement. President Day of the New Yorks promised to give Daily up after the first game, but he allowed him to pitch yesterday against Cincinnati. President Phelps has been notified by St. Louis to again warn New York and the National League against playing Daily. It may be that Daily will be captured by the Browns, but the Athletics are also after him.

Addition to a Great Hotel.

The leading hotels of New York are doing a larger business this year than ever before in their history, and it looks as though this pleasant state of affairs might continue for some time. The influx of guests from all parts of the country, and in fact from all parts of the world, is taxing the resources of some of the most fashionable houses to the utmost. In some cases it has become absolutely necessary to provide additional facilities, as for instance, at the Buckingham, one of the most luxurious and sumptuous hotels in all America. As the building already occupied 200 feet on Fiftieth street besides nice frontages on Fifth avenue and Forty-ninth street, the owner some time ago decided to add a fireproof extension of about fifty rooms on the Fifth avenue side, which are now ready for occupancy.

The new part is furnished in the same artistic and comfortable style that distinguishes the rest of the house.

The superb parlors occupying the street floor of the new portion are for gentlemen, and will afford them the various conveniences and comforts now deemed indispensable by those who frequent the modern first-class hotel.

The proprietors, Messrs. Wetherbee & Fuller, assert that the Buckingham is complete in every detail of a perfectly equipped hotel for permanent and transient guests, being unsurpassed in that regard by any other house.—New York Tribune.

Venice, Ill.

J. A. Reynolds on Wednesday sold to Ferdinand Schmieder eighty-nine feet on the Rock road, between Second and Third streets, for $800.

Wm. Weyh returned Wednesday night from Boston, where he has been attending the national encampment of the G. A. R.

Fred Kaseberg paid a funeral bill of $31.50 for Conrad Thierath, an employe in his blacksmith shop, and on Thierath's declining to reimburse him he attempted to hold Thierath's tools. A replevin suit was the result, and on Wednesday Justice Fechte decided that Thierath was entitled to his tools.

Burglars effected an entrance into the house of Dennis Rush about 3 a. m. Thursday and stole a valuable watch and chain. On the same night the boarding-house of S. Hirt was entered and $12 stolen, while the thieves also refreshed themselves with the liquors in the saloon. The inmates of the house believe they were chloroformed.

Last, But Not Least. The sixth of the great SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH "Want" adver- excursions takes place September 10. Every "Want" advertiser in to-morrow's SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH gets a ticket.

New Warrants.

New criminal warrants issued at the Four Courts yesterday charge Lee Sheldon with assault with intent to kill George Wells; Alfred Cross, petit larceny in stealing a lot of chickens from Herman Malley; Thomas Craig, grand larceny in stealing a gold watch from James Shaw; Fred and Herman Kuhlman, fraud in working the "horse shark" game on Farmer Adam Eckroth.

Home Seekers' Cheap Excursions.

For the fall of 1890, will leave St. Louis September 9 and 23 and October 14 via the Missouri Pacific Railway and "Iron Mountain Route" to points in Southwest Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Arkansas and Texas. Half fare for the round trip. Ample stop-over privileges and 30 days limit on tickets. Ticket offices 102 North Fourth street and Union Depot.

A Box of Bones.

Yesterday evening Mrs. D. Sale, living at 2734 Lucas avenue, found a box containing human bones in the garret at her home. She notified the police and the ghastly relics were removed to the Morgue. The box is supposed to have been left where found by a young medical student who boarded at the place during the session of college last winter.

Attention Knights of St. Patrick.

The members of the Knights of St. Patrick will meet this Saturday evening, the 23d inst., at 7:30 o'clock at Lindell Hotel, parlor 22, to take proper action on the death of our late brother, Henry C. Dunne. By order of THOS. MORRIS, Secretary. E. J. O'CONNOR, President.

His Son Missing.

S. C. Snepp writes to Chief Harrigan from Mattoon, Ill., for information concerning his son, who ran away from home with a neighbor's boy a few days ago. Both of the runaways are 14 years old and are bound for Kansas City.

DR. ENNO SANDER'S TEN-FOLD CARLSBAD SPRUDEL is the best remedy for torpid liver and similar complaints. For sale by all druggists. Telephone 779.

Fire in a Boarding-House.

Fire did small damage to the two-story brick building at 1701 South Broadway yesterday evening. The property is owned by Peter Enders, and by him occupied as a saloon and boarding-house.

IF your head aches periodically, Bradycrotine near at hand is your remedy.

Hurt by a Fall.

Otto Bodecker fell at the corner of Seventh and Olive streets last night and was badly cut on the head. His home is at Havana, Ill. He was sent to the City Dispensary.

Remember Number Six. The last excursion given by the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH to its "want" advertisers takes place September 10. Put a want in to-morrow's SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH and get a ticket.

REPLEVINING A DISPLAY.

The Isaacs Wall Paper Co. Sue the Brewing Association and Others.

The J. L. Isaacs Wall Paper Co. by Collins & Jamison, their attorneys, have filed a replevin suit against the St. Louis Exposition and Music Hall Association, the St. Louis Brewing Association and Noxon & Toomey. Last year the Isaacs Wall Paper Co. had the south end of the gallery in the east nave and the Brewing Association had a revolving display above them. The wall paper company decided to give another display in another part of the building this year, but an examination found the Brewery Association had extended its exhibit and built a display on the roof of the wall paper exhibit. They would not allow the wall paper company to remove the support and a replevin suit was the result. Not knowing who is in possession of the property, Collins & Jamison sue all parties. The five small rooms composing the Isaacs Wall Paper Co. display are valued at $1,000.
